Nation can 'tell it to President' Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is a room in the White House complex now that looks like a bookie joint. Or maybe one of those potboiler operations where telephone pitchmen sell stock in the Brooklyn Bridge.

It is the heart of Dial-a-President, or "Ask President Carter" as it's called, the two-hour period Saturday afternoon when you can get on the telephone and talk with Jimmy Carter about whatever bugs you.

Banks of telephones are at one end of the room, complicated electronics equipment at the other. And in the center, like Zeus, sits Emerson Stone, his finger on the wipe-out button.

President Carter and Walter Cronkite, the two voices on the White House end of the radio talk show, will not be in the mission control center in the Old Executive Office Building. They will be in the Oval Office, seated before microphones and a television set that flashes the caller's name and its pronunciation.

Cronkite's major role will be to say "The toll-free number to call is 900-242-1611." (Yes, it's a 900 area code — the first). He will also act as the talk show host, gently easing off the verbose and redundant and keeping things moving. He can ask follow-up questions.

Emerson Stone's role will be different. When the show goes on the air at 11 a.m. PST, his finger will be poised over a silvery button, ready to strike if the language gets saltier than hell and damn.

"The President and I will be the only people with The Button that day," he jokes.

Stone is a CBS Radio News vice president cast in a role performed by call-in talk show hosts on late-night radio all over the country.

There'll be a 6½ second delay before the conversation goes on the air. If your radio is on while you talk to Carter you'll hear yourself 6½ seconds late, causing no end of confusion. If Stone strikes his destruct button, a tape will announce a brief interruption.

President Carter and Cronkite won't be spared any obscenity or abusive language. That nicety is for those listening to all 265 stations on the CBS network, some other stations where there is no CBS outlet, some public broadcasting stations and the Voice of America.

14 arrested in valley drug raids

By TONY AULT
PB Staff Writer

A 40-year-old Pomona woman suspected of conspiring to sell approximately $1 million in cut heroin a year in four counties and 13 other persons were arrested this morning in a series of narcotics raids in the valley.

According to Capt. Tony Linza of the Chino Police Department, the raids that began at 6 a.m. today were the accumulation of a three-month effort to capture "one of the biggest narcotics pushers this area has ever known."

The leading conspirator, identified as Connie Moreno Arroyo of 1022 W. 12th St., Pomona, according to police and narcotics officers, is suspected of having dealt in more than two pounds of cut Mexican heroin since the investigation began in December.

The woman, Linza said, is the wife of Ruben Arroyo, arrested by Mexican police in Tijuana, Mex., recently, with eight pounds of uncut, brown heroin and a large quantity of marijuana worth millions on the street. Arroyo, a fugitive from the United States, according to Mexican authorities, is connected with Albert Ramirez, who police said is a major narcotics dealer in Tijuana and San Luis.

Mrs. Arroyo was booked in the West End jail today in lieu of $200,000 bail after being accused of suspicion of conspiracy to sell and sales of heroin.

Linza said that in addition to the large quantity of heroin sold on the streets by the conspirators more than $1 million of suspected stolen property is also believed involved.

Linza said police suspect that Mrs. Arroyo would obtain heroin from her husband in Mexico and smuggle it into the U.S.

The heroin was then cut, they theorize, at a still undetermined location and then distributed to local dealers in Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties.

Ten of the suspected dealer-conspirators were arrested last week in the Ontario-Upland area in earlier raids while 10 more were arrested this morning in Chino and Ontario.

Other arrests were made of suspected drug users during the raids.

Linza said the heroin conspiracy investigation began three months ago after two members of the Chino-Corona Burglary Apprehension Team developed information about a major narcotics conspiracy taking place in the valley area.

The San Bernardino County Regional Narcotics Task Force and local police departments were brought into the investigation.

With funding assistance from federal narcotics agencies, 24-hour police stakeouts began on the suspected conspirators' residences.

Undercover officers hidden in vans, cars and homes watched and recorded numerous buys and deliveries of heroin, Linza said.

Once the evidence was compiled, arrests and search warrants were obtained from the West Valley Municipal Court and the raids began.

Coordinating the investigation were Sgt. Fred Biggs of the BAT team, Sgt. Gene Bowlin of the Regional Narcotics Task Force, and Gary Knox of the Chino Police Department.

The overall investigation was under the direction of Capt. Charles Follett of the task force and Captain Linza.

Linza said it was the first time a narcotics investigation in the valley proceded on a conspiracy basis.

In all other coordinated narcotics investigations in the valley, he said, undercover officers were used to make buys from suspected narcotics dealers.

The raids this morning were conducted without incident. All the suspected conspirators were arrested within a 90-minute period. Linza said "It was really smooth."

The suspects, including Mrs. Arroyo, were booked into the Chino and West End jails pending arraignments on the charges.

The suspects arrested and charges were:

Olivia Reina, 32, and Ruben Lara, 28, both of 13102 Monte Vista Ave., Chino, for conspiracy to sell heroin; Gilbert Delgado, 33, 4001 E. Grand Ave., Chino, for conspiracy; Manuel Velez, 32, 12814 Benson Ave., Chino, for conspiracy; Anthony Moreno, 21, 13106 Seventh St., Chino, for conspiracy.

Also, Rodney Almendarez, 31, 13023 Monte Vista Ave., Chino, for conspiracy; Rene Sanchez, 23, 12971 Third St., Chino, for conspiracy; Vincent Centeno, 34, of 4996 F St., Chino, for sales of heroin; Benjamine Austin, of Ontario, for conspiracy; Salvadore Sal of Ontario, for sales of heroin; Rudolph Mijares of Ontario, for sales of heroin; Alex Vaquez, 32, of Chino for using heroin; and Linda Carol Cordero of Chino, for using heroin.

Arrested earlier and in custody on related charges are Leonard Carbajal of Chino and Javier Alcarez of Ontario.

Shooting suspect succumbs

A young man who reportedly went on a shooting spree in a northwest Pomona neighborhood Wednesday has died of multiple gunshot wounds in the jail ward at County-USC Medical Center.

For some reason still not determined, Richard Douglas Dukes, 20, about 10 a.m. Wednesday walked through the area of Garey and Grove avenues and began firing a .38 caliber revolver, said police.

Dukes was shot by Pomona police officers, but only after he reportedly wounded two men.

Garland (Gar) Smith, 181 Fanshaw Ave., was shot in the head and taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital where he is reported in serious condition in an intensive care ward.

Clive John Regina, 47, of Upland, was released after treatment of a wound at the Pomona hospital.

Dukes died at the medical center at 9 a.m. Thursday.

Pomona detectives are continuing their investigation into the shootings.

L.A. council OKs 'gypsy' cab bill

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Independently owned and operated cabs soon may be picking up riders in Los Angeles for the first time in 42 years.

The City Council voted 11-3 Thursday to pass an ordinance allowing so-called "gypsy" cab operations in addition to those of regular francises taxi companies.

The vote automatically delayed final action for one week.

CAR-TRAIN COLLISION

Ambulance attendants remove a driver who was severely injured when the automobile, left, collided with a freight train Thursday afternoon in Cucamonga. A Rialto truck driver, using a chain, helped pull the automobile, which was wedged between two cars, free from the freight.

Hoping to free miner tonight; search goes on for 7 others

TOWER CITY, Pa. (AP) — Rescuers, wary of a possible cave-in in the four-foot escape passage they were carving, today tediously chipped through a 50-foot wall of coal to reach an imprisoned miner.

They hoped to free him tonight.

Federal officials ordered an oil derrick-type drill flown in from Utah to further the search for seven other men, whose fate and whereabouts are unknown.

As rescuers inched sideways toward him from a nearby tunnel at the rate of one foot an hour, Ronald Adley, 37, waited a mile inside a 400-foot mountain in the heart of Pennsylvania's hard coal region north of Harrisburg.

Told to keep still, he perched atop a shattered timber in the 10-foot by 10-foot chamber. The chamber, larger than it was thought at first, slants upward at a 45-degree angle from the main tunnel.

"He's in good shape. He's in good spirits," said Robert Barrett.

Woman seriously hurt in car-train collision

By TONY AULT
PB Staff Writer

A 48-year-old Covina woman was severely injured Thursday when her car and a freight train collided just north of Eighth Street and Baker Avenue in Cucamonga.

The victim, Helen Agnes East, of 1410 E. Adams Park Drive, was reported in stable condition this morning at the Ontario Community Hospital.

California Highway Patrol officers from San Bernardino who investigated the accident said Mrs. East was southbound on Baker Avenue.

Engineer G. E. Hahn told patrolmen the eastbound Santa Fe freight train was traveling at 35 miles per hour when he saw the traffic gates go down and the vehicle move through the gates. He said he blew his horn, but it was too late to avoid the collision. Time of the accident was 4:17 p.m.

According to witnesses, the car hit the train between an empty carrier and a tank car and was so tightly wedged between the two freight cars that firemen had to work 15 minutes before Mrs. East was freed from behind the steering wheel of her automobile.

They said that a truck driver, Bill Heagstedt of Rialto, hooked a chain to the truck cab and the car steering column and pulled the vehicle back from the train.

Witnesses told patrolmen the signals at the crossing were working.

Man struck, killed by car in R.H. area

A Los Alamitos man was killed about 6:50 a.m. today when he was struck by a car as he crossed Colima Road in the Rowland Heights area.

Jack Earl Raley Jr., 35, was pronounced dead at the scene by a doctor, California Highway Patrol officials said.

They said that Raley was knocked over the hood and the car and carried some 200 feet after being struck.

The driver, Raymond Minasian of La Mirada, was not held.

Complex school integration plan adopted by L.A. board

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Board of Education has approved a complex school integration plan that includes a one-year moratorium on forced busing and short rides for those who are bused.

The plan adopted piecemeal during an 8½-hour session Thursday night would provide all students with at least two years in "an integrated educational experience," permit parents to have some say in how integration is achieved and cost one-tenth less than first thought.

Superior Court Judge Paul Egly will make the final decision on how the school system, the nation's second largest with 600,000 students, is to be integrated. He may accept all or parts of the plan or come up with one of his own.

Much of the plan is unique to Los Angeles because of the problems presented here, including the fact that the system has more "minority" children, Spanish-surnamed, than whites.

Amputates own arm, then rushes to hospital

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A textile worker cut off part of his own left arm with his pocket knife to get it out of a machine that was mangling it, then calmly tried to drive himself and his severed limb to the hospital.

Marton Pitchford, 56, of Charlotte, was in satisfactory condition today at Charlotte Memorial Hospital after surgery. His severed arm was mangled and doctors were unable to sew it back on.

The incident began about midnight Wednesday as Pitchford and a coworker labored on the night shift at Inman Fibers Inc. Pitchford's job was feeding clumps of polyester into a stretching machine.

The fiber had to go between two large rollers. Pitchford said he slipped, and his arm went between the rollers.

Fearing the machine would take more of his arm, Pitchford acted immediately.

"I got my knife out and I got it open and I just went to cutting. It was a hard thing to do, but I done it," he said. The machine had already broken his bones and all Pitchford had to do was hack through the flesh that remained.

Pitchford told his coworker he was going to the hospital. The coworker said he would help, although he had no driver's license. Pitchford picked up his severed arm, and they headed for his car.

After a block, they decided they wouldn't make it with Pitchford trying to drive onehanded with his friend's help, so they hailed a taxi.

The taxi had a flat tire three miles later, and Pitchford was left standing on an access ramp to Interstate 77 when Sgt. M. D. Cooper of the Mecklenburg County Police Department spotted him and pulled over.

"I told him to get in," Cooper said. "He said, 'I don't want to get blood all over your car.' I said, 'Don't you worry about that. You just get in this car.'"

"The good Lord just went with me," Pitchford said from his hospital bed. "That's all there was to it."

Weather

Death row inmates to transfer to CIM

By TONY AULT
PB Staff Writer

At least 10 prison inmates will be removed from San Quentin's Death Row next week and transferred to the California Institution for Men's reception guidance center in Chino.

The transfer will result from a recent California Supreme Court's decision to eliminate the death penalty.

Another 10 inmates of the '66 on death row have been transported to the Vacaville Reception Guidance Center and are undergoing diagnostic tests for placement at other prisons.

After the 10 are moved off death row, five more will be moved to either Vacaville or CIM each week until all have been tested.

Bill Merkle, a San Quentin official, said after the inmates have been tested, they will be returned to San Quentin, assigned to Folsom or Soledad state prisons, or sent to the Deuel Vocational Institute in Tracy.

Condemned inmates have always been sent directly to San Quentin's Death Row, compared to other inmates who are normally processed through diagnostic centers before assigned to certain prisons.

The diagnostic testing at CIM and Vacaville usually takes six weeks, said Merkle. He added that many on death row have already begun testing at San Quentin.

Because of the completed testing, their length of stay at CIM or Vacaville will be shorter.

The death row inmates, meanwhile, are expected to make routine court appearances where most of their sentences will be commuted to life imprisonment.

The two women on death row are both housed at the California Institution for Women near Chino. The two, M. E. Kozeak of Riverside and Mabel Glen of Santa Barbara, will be tested at that prison.

State prison officials declined to release the names of inmates.

Pomona College presents play

Pomona College will present "The Host," the first American stage adaptation of Ingmar Bergman's "Personna," in Holmes Hall at 8 p.m. Saturday.

The production was adapted and directed by former Pomona College professor Andy Doe. It has just completed a critically acclaimed six-week run at the Odyssey Theater in West Los Angeles.

"The Host" is beginning a tour of Southern California and inaugurates it at Pomona College. Besides Doe, the production features former professor Reba Waters of Pomona and Pomona College alumna Jan Larson. Several production people are also Pomona College alumni. Admission is $1.

Policeman placed on probation

Victor Lee Denham, a veteran of eight years' service with the Los Angeles Police Department, has been placed on probation for two years for shooting a Monterey Park private detective he found with his former girlfriend in her Rowland Heights home May 10.

Denham, 30, a resident of Walnut, was granted probation by Superior Court Judge David F. Cunningham. It was Cunningham who ruled the former policeman guilty of assault with a deadly weapon last November at the close of Denham's trial in Pomona Superior Court. The judge since has been transferred to Juvenile Court in Los Angeles. It was there that Denham appeared for sentencing.

According to an LAPD spokesman, Denham resigned shortly after the conviction and before a scheduled trial board hearing. He is attempting to obtain a disability pension, the spokesman said.

The victim, Robert Joe Petrasich, 26, was shot in chest and was in critical condition for a time.

He has recovered and testified at Denham's trial in Pomona.

The shooting occurred at 19381 Springport St. Testimony at the trial indicated that Denham and the woman had lived together for a time, but had broken up when he entered her home that day unexpectedly and found her in bed with Petrasich.

State briefs

Bing Crosby hospitalized

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Entertainer Bing Crosby was taken to a hospital Thursday night when he stumbled and fell from a stage after taping a television show.

CBS spokesman Hal Baird said the 72-year-old singer grabbed for a piece of scenery as he tripped but tumbled at least six feet into an orchestra pit.

According to Baird, doctors in the audience said Crosby suffered a minor head cut and several bruises but had broken no bones.

Paramedics took Crosby to Huntington Memorial Hospital for a checkup, a spokesman said. The singer was conscious "and in good spirits," he said.

The tumble ended a three-hour benefit performance at Ambassador College's auditorium during which the CBS television special, honoring Crosby's 50th year in show business, was taped.

Younger raps Rose Bird

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger has made public a confidential letter saying that Rose Bird, nominated for Chief Justice of California is "vindictive" and possesses "questionable emotional stability."

The letter was written by Bishop Roger Mahony of Fresno, former chairman of the Agricultural Labor Relations Board. He said last month that he had written it to the Commission on Judicial Appointments, of which Younger is a member. But Mahony said then in an interview it was confidential, and he declined to reveal its contents.

The three-member commission is to meet Monday on whether to accept or reject Democratic Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s nominations to the state Supreme Court.

Minimum wage rule

SANTA ANA (AP) — The state's new $2.50-an-hour minimum wage rule and other industrial welfare regulations have been declared invalid by an Orange County Superior Court judge.

Judge Claude M. Owens, acting on a lawsuit brought against the state Industrial Welfare Commission, ruled that the commission had not filed required statements of findings to support the new regulations.

Acting in the suit filed by the California Manufacturers Association about four months ago, the judge issued a permanent injunction barring enforcement of some of the new regulaions, including the minimum wage law.

A better Frankie Valli?

LOS ANGELES — The lure of teen-age bubble-gum music has popped for Frankie Valli.

The 42-year-old singer, whose glass-shattering falsetto voice earmarked the sound of the Four Seasons for 15 years, has embarked on what he hopes will be a more relaxed solo career concentrating on "meaty ballads."

He said he would like to improve on such hits as "Sherry," "Big Girls Don't Cry," "Dawn" and "Rag Doll" which the Seasons recorded in the 60s.

"The early Four Seasons were known for bubble-gum music," Valli said in an interview Thursday. "That's not exactly what the Four Seasons are doing now but it's in the same vein.

"I would like to do better music, not as elementary as what I've been doing. I prefer ballads, meaty ballads. I admire Perry Como, Sammy Davis, Frank Sinatra and artists like them. These are the people who outlast the fad music."

Hospital volunteers

NORWALK (AP) — More than half the persons who have volunteered for a volunteer visitor program at state mental hospitals are members of the Hare Krishna and Scientology religious groups, state officials say.

The two sects have provided most of the volunteers for four hours weekly at Metropolitan State Hospital in Norwalk or Agnews in San Jose, said Robert Boggs, volunteer services chief of the state Health Department.

Of the 57 volunteers being trained at Metropolitan, 36 are Hare Krishna devotees and six are Scientologists, Mary Westphal, coordinator of voluntary services, said Thursday.

"They moved faster than the rest of the religious groups," said Sister Margaret Rose Welch, chairman of the Southern California Council for the volunteer program, which was set up by Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr.

4 arrested in murder probe

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The estranged husband of murdered Ellen Delia and four other men have been arrested by police investigating at least 10 possibly-related murders.

Police said that neither Michael Delia nor any of the other four men had been booked on murder charges, but they said they seized four guns and other evidence that may help solve the murders of Mrs. Delia and nine other persons.

Asst. Police Chief Daryl Gates said Delia "definitely is a suspect" in the killing of his wife. Delia's arrest came one day after he charged that law enforcement people had killed his wife and were trying to blame it on a group called the Mexican Mafia, which Delia said is a fictional creation of the police.

Oil tanker investigation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An eyewitness report of a streaking flash just before the Sansinena exploded, and two unexplained holes in the oil tanker's hull have prompted a further probe into the cause of the blast.

Coast Guard Capt. James Atkinson announced Thursday that a board of inquiry will resume hearings—probably March 21—on the deadly tanker blast.

"We have received a statement from an eyewitness that he saw a streak of light or a spark or a flare or something shoot up into the sky several hundred feet just before the big flareup on the Sansinena," said Atkinson, a member of the board of inquiry.

"I have no idea what it could have been," Atkinson said. "But I have no doubt the witness saw something. The question is, what was it and does it relate to the casualty?"

UFW members picket

EL CENTRO (AP)—The United Farm Workers Union has launched protests to its defeat to what it considers a "company union" in balloting among workers for a lettuce processor.

After learning the result Thursday night, UFW members marched to the state Agricultural Labor Relations Board office here and began picketing.

The office is the same one where 24 UFW members were arrested Tuesday as they protested the election.

Counting of ballots by workers of Salinas-based Royal Packing Co. was carried out with two plainclothes state police present.

End airline controls—Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration moved today to deregulate the airline industry, urging Congress to pass legislation designed to increase competition and reduce air fares.

President Carter sent a message to Congress outlining his goals, which would ease entry of new carriers into the airline industry.

The proposal is part of the President's over-all scheme to reduce federal regulation in various industries.

"Regulation, once designed to serve the interests of the public, now stifles competition," Carter's message to Congress stated. "It has discouraged new, innovative air carriers from offering their services and it has denied consumers lower fares where they are possible."

Carter said at a news conference Feb. 23 that he would not submit administration legislation "because the Congress has already moved substantially forward in dealing with this important issue."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., first introduced such legislation in 1974 and then a year later Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the Senate aviation subcommittee, introduced related legislation.

Carter said any bill passed by Congress should be designed to:

—Let the domestic commercial airline industry "be governed by competitive market forces, not the decisions of a government bureaucracy;"

—Ease restrictions on entry into the industry "so that the new, innovative companies can offer their services to the public;"

—Allow airlines to expand routes, within limits, without approval of the Civil Aeronautics Board, which until now has strictly governed airline rates and routes;

—Allow airlines, "after a short, initial phase-in," to set competitive prices "with only such regulation as is necessary to prevent predatory, below-cost pricing."

Carter's message also said that airlines should be allowed to drop routes but that small communities must also be protected against loss of necessary service.

Man, wife guilty of child's torture death; sentenced to 99 years

ATHENS, Tenn. (AP) — Ten months after state officials returned 4-year-old Melisha to them, Ronald and Wanda Gibson Maddux were sentenced to 99 years in prison for torturing the child to death.

Attorneys said the second-degree murder convictions would be appealed because widespread publicity had made it impossible for them to receive a fair trial here.

A jury of nine men and three women deliberated just 45 minutes before convicting the pair. Testimony showed Maddux forced the little girl to sleep naked on a hardwood floor in October, made her run through the house all day, beat her repeatedly with a metal-tipped baseball bat and gave her hot sauce to drink.

Jurors were shown color photographs of the child's badly bruised body. A pathologist testified Melisha died of internal bleeding as a result of the beating. He said the girl's kidney had ruptured, an injury which required a beating of "severe force."

The case generated a storm of protest about state policies of returning abused children to their parents and forced the Human Services Department to initiate a $1 million emergency program to improve their services.

"I think the publicity triggered a real movement across the nation toward understanding child abuse, preventing it, and dealing swift justice to child abusers," said Dist. Atty. Richard Fisher.

By her own testimony, Mrs. Maddux asked her husband to stop tormenting her daughter only two or three times.

"Did you at any time give medical attention to the bruised and bloody body of your baby in the last day of her life?" asked Fisher.

"No," said Mrs. Maddux.

The prosecution also brought out that Mrs. Maddux made love to her husband as Melisha lay naked and shivering on the floor in the next room and that she rubbed alcohol on his shoulder after he spent the day beating the girl.

"She did all she could do in this torturous period in Melisha's life," said defense attorney Don Reid. "She may be guilty of being a poor mother, but that does not make her guilty of being a murderess."

Maddux contended that his wife beat Melisha to death while he drank a half-gallon of whiskey in the two days before the baby's death.

As the jury foreman read the convictions and the sentence, Mrs. Maddux put her head in her hands and burst into tears. Muffled sobs could be heard from some members of their families scattered throughout the crowded courtroom.

"It was a tremendously emotional case and it got to me," said Fisher afterward. "I couldn't help but prosecute that case emotionally.

"Every time I reviewed the evidence, it was enough to make me want to cry all over again."

Shift in tax cut proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration agreed today to support most of the changes made in the President's tax cut proposal by the House Ways and Means Committee, which shifted some of Carter's tax reductions from 1977 to 1978.

However, Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal, in testimony before the House Budget Committee, neither criticized nor specifically endorsed the major change voted by Ways and Means, which would deny Carter's proposed $50 rebates to families with incomes above $30,000.

Instead, he directed his criticism at a Ways and Means provision that would have the government subsidize 40 per cent of the first year wages paid to newly hired workers in an effort to cut unemployment.

"It is extremely cumbersome, has little employment impact and it is unfair to many businesses," Blumenthal said of the 40 per cent job credit.

The committee adopted that provision after junking Carter's own formula for helping business. Carter wants to allow business a temporary tax credit equal to 4 per cent of its Social Security tax or, as an option, a higher credit for investing in new equipment.

The tax bill approved by Ways and Means would cut taxes about $1 billion less in 1977 and $1 billion more in 1978 than Carter recommended.

The House and Senate cleared the way Thursday for consideration of a $17.5-billion plan to stimulate the economy, which could include a Carter's proposal for $50 tax rebates or some modification of it.

Congress has not yet decided whether to include rebates in the stimulus plan and, if it does, it probably will be the end of June before most rebates are in the hands of taxpayers.

Both houses voted Thursday to amend the budget for the current fiscal year to allow any combination of tax cuts and federal spending that costs $17.5 billion or less. The Senate action was by voice vote; the vote in the House was 226 to 173.

The votes were not on the makeup of the tax-cut and spending plans but only on whether the budget for fiscal 1977, which ends on Sept. 30, should be increased to make way for the economic stimulus.

Four who held 12 hostage surrender

TOKYO (AP) — Four polite ultrarightists who stormed the citadel of Japanese big business and held hostages for 11 hours were talked into surrendering early today by the widow of their nationalist idol, novelist Yukio Mishima.

The four young men ceremoniously gave up their weapons — a shotgun, a pistol and a samurai sword — and released the last two of 12 men and women they held captive during their long, confused protest against moral and economic corruption.

They fired several shots into the ceiling after invading the 14-story headquarters of Keidanren, the Federation of Economic Organizations.

Valley crime

Ex-cop held without bail

A former San Gabriel police officer has been ordered held without bail on charges of kidnaping and murdering the teen-ager he said kidnaped him.

Citrus Municipal Court Judge Alfonso Bazon in West Covina Thursday set an April 12 preliminary hearing for Billy Joe McIlvain, 33, accused of abducting David Dominquez, 19, and then shooting him Monday during a reported siege inside the McIlvain home.

McIlvain told arresting officers that he ended a siege at his home by killing his captor.

Officers said that the incident may have been triggered by hostility between McIlvain and a San Gabriel street gang, Sangra, to which Dominguez' mother said he belonged.

The former policeman said he had pulled a pistol from his boot and shot Dominguez after a tense two hours during which police officers waited outside while more than 100 shots were fired from the house.

A Los Angeles County coroner's report said that the teen-ager had been shot six times with a shotgun and three times with a .357-caliber magnum.

An attorney for the onetime officer, who was placed on disability retirement last December, pleaded that the defendant was an "exceedingly fine risk" for release on bail becaue of longstanding community roots.

But Deputy Dist. Atty. Ron Bowers said McIlvain should not be released on bail because of the seriousness of the charges.

Bazan denied bail but said he would hear further arguments on the matter later.

YTS inmate stabbed

A 17-year-old youth was stabbed three times in an attack by another ward at the Youth Training School in Chino on Thursday afternoon, Chino police reported.

Mark Vincent Robledo, the victim, was serving a term at YTS. He was stabbed twice in the chest and once in the back during a break at the institution's academic trade school about 1:30 p.m.

Robledo was reported in stable condition in a Riverside hospital this morning.

Chino police investigating the stabbing said that Jose Alfredo Perez, 18, was being held in closed custody for investigation of suspicion of attempted murder.

Police said the stabbing incident is believed to be gang-related. Perez is also a YTS ward.

Liddy plight has ear of Carter aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — G. Gordon Liddy, the last of the original seven Watergate burglars still in prison, is getting unaccustomed attention from the Carter administration in his bid for a commutation.

"There obviously has been much more interest in this matter than most any other that we are aware of," said presidential counsel Robert Lipshutz.

Lipshutz met on Feb. 11 with Liddy's wife and promised to "take a personal interest in the case," one participant said.

Lipshutz said the meeting "didn't indicate any prejudgment one way or the other."

Liddy, the Watergate burglary mastermind, has been in prison for 46 months, serving a term of 6 years, 8 months to 20 years. He is not eligible for parole until May 1981.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said today the President has taken no position on the matter.

Russ want arms control—Vance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has "a continuing deep and abiding interest" in reaching an arms control agreement with the United States despite recent criticism here of human rights violations in Russia, Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance said today.

At a news conference, Vance said he hoped the two superpowers could arrive at "a set of ground rules which will permit competition side by side" and provide a peaceful resolution of their differences.

Administration considers action

Mandatory fuel-saving measures?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration is considering imposing "mandatory action and pricing" to conserve energy, Federal Energy Administrator John O'Leary said today.

O'Leary, while giving few details of the energy policies that President Carter has promised to disclose by April 20, said "attention is being given to approaches which would go beyond the voluntary measures which have largely characterized the nation's previous energy conservation efforts."

One of the proposals under consideration is to provide unspecified incentives to gas utilities to finance installation of such fuel saving measures as ceiling insulation, automatic thermostat devices and furnace modifications, he said.

38 Italian air cadets killed in plane crash

PISA, Italy (AP) — For 38 first-year cadets from the Leghorn Naval Academy, the one-hour flight aboard an air force C130 was to have been a routine training exercise. But it was their last flight.

The cadets, 18 and 19 years old, and the six others aboard the Hercules transport were killed when the planned slammed into 2,800-foot Monte Serra Thursday.

It was the worst peacetime crash in the history of the Italian air force and wiped out one-third of the freshman class at Italy's Annapolis.

A government commission was appointed to investigate the crash.

The plane, carrying a crew of five and an instructor in addition to the cadets, left Pisa's San Giusto airport in perfect flying weather for a flight over mountainous Tuscany and the Tyrrhenian Sea.

Witnesses said the plane appeared to lose altitude about 300 feet from the top of the mountain and crashed, scattering bodies and debris over a wide area.

"They were all burned to death," said Luigi La Porta, who helped recover the bodies. "Some were like statues and still had their faces covered with their hands, but I never realized that burned bodies would shrink so much. They semed like babies."

RAY BALL FOR
CLAREMONT BOARD OF EDUCATION

A VOTE FOR RAY BALL IS A VOTE FOR:

- MORE EMPHASIS ON FUNDAMENTALS.
  Let us teach our children to read and write. We must implement the Hart Law which requires high school graduates to be proficient in basic skills.
- INCREASED FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY
  Let us cut out some of the frills and concentrate on the basic needs. Convince the spenders that our tax money was too hard to earn to be squandered away.
- RESTORE DISCIPLINE AND ORDER
  Let us eliminate the excessive permissiveness that allows a few pampered students to disrupt and intimidate the entire educational process.
- MAINTAIN A BALANCED BOARD
  Let us have different philosophies and vocational backgrounds represented to prevent a "rubber stamp" board.
- BETTER PREPARE OUR CHILDREN FOR THE FUTURE
  Let us install a competitive spirit in our children. Teach them to be proud of being a producer, not a taker, and reward them for excellence in achievement.

WHO IS RAY BALL?

- Native of Massachusetts
- Veteran of W.W.II, U.S. Navy
- Graduate of Boston University
- Former Sunday School Teacher at Pilgrim Congregational Church, Pomona

"I was a last minute candidate as I believed that those then running were from the same philosophical camp, and if they were all elected it would be a one-sided board. Those of us with more conservative views would be left out of any decision making for at least two years. I also noted that three of the four candidates were teachers which would put the entire school district in complete control of professional educators. This alarmed me.
"We have some serious problems facing us concerning overall public education in Claremont, namely, implementing the Hart Law, School financing as a result of the Serrano-Priest Decision, racial imbalances. BUT the most important is resisting efforts to have our district controlled by the State Board with a resulting downgrading of our local educational levels."

Claremont girls plan powder puff contest

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

One of the fun events of the school year at Claremont High School will be staged Saturday beginning at 6 p.m. when the senior girls take on their younger counterparts, the junior girls, in the annual powder puff football game at the high school field.

The event, won in 1976 by the seniors by a 2-0 margin, always attracts a large crowd.

The girls have plenty of coaching talent to assist them from the sidelines. Helping the senior students will be Dave Anderson, Jim Tellis, Tim Dooling, Rob Poling, Greg Setlich, and Jim Todd.

The juniors will get help from Robert Villanueva, Bill Magnuson, Dave Bosson, Doug Jollymour, Scott Keegans, and Grant Warhurst.

Last year the game was decided by a safety, but both teams claim the 1977 contest will be high-scoring.

Last year, four 10-minute quarters were played, but the clock kept running.

This year, the coaches want to slow down the game so it will last longer.

"We have 25 repeaters from the game last year, and that much more experience," said Dave Anderson. "We should score 77 points because we're the class of '77."

Bosson disagreed and believes the junior girls are faster and have more spirit.

EARLE W. HORTON

Horton to speak at lodge

Pomona Moose Lodge 650, 300 S. San Antonio Ave., will have as its guest speaker Thursday Earle W. Horton, director of civic affairs community services program of the fraternity and the grand herder of the Legion of the Moose, the second degree of the Order.

Horton was first employed as a mail carrier at the Moose Child City on May 15, 1918, and since then has been working in different capacities for the Loyal Order of Moose.

He was born in Aurora, Ill. and joined the Junior Order of Moose in 1918, serving as secretary and governor.

Horton is a civic leader in his own community and is involved in many organizations in Batavia.

A dinner will precede the special enrollment. Cost is $3.

College board candidate is endorsed

William A. Russell Jr. of Norco, a candidate for the Chaffey College board of trustees in the March 8 election has been endorsed by the United Aerospace Worker Local 148 of which he is a member.

Russell, a manufacturing engineering planner, is primarily concerned with the declining enrollment at the community college.

"My immediate reaction would be to increase the vocational courses at the main campus and the annexes to stimulate enrollment," said Russell.

"Second, I would begin to exercise pressure on the Congress for passage of much-needed legislation for veterans.

"A third, and last resort, would be to cut the size of the administration and staff at the college if necessary," added the candidate.

Russell says that too many unskilled young people are unemployed and should have the opportunity to learn a skilled trade.

He feels that automation and general cutbacks have displaced many people from jobs and that programs must be provided to offer the opportunity to learn new skills.

"In this way, Chaffey College would provide an even greater service to the community," Russell added.

Russell and his wife have two children attending schools in the Corona-Norco area.

He is attending Riverside City College, majoring in real estate.

Pharmacist convicted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Compton pharmacist has been convicted of grand theft and filing false claims for Medi-Cal payments.

The conviction was handed down Wednesday against Percy G. Humphrey Jr., who operates his own drugstore.

The district attorney's office said Humphrey had filed claims for drugs he had not provided and in some cases had billed Medi-Cal up to five times for a single prescription.

Damien begins Lenten program

By Martin Ramirez
Damien Correspondent

Recently, Damien High School in La Verne began its Lenten hunger program, for the benefit of the poor people of Calcutta, India.

On Wednesdays for the next five weeks, students are asked to give up some portion of their regular lunch and to donate its monetary equivalent to designated "hunger collectors" during the morning announcements.

These collectors turn their money in to Father Bob Powell, head of the Damien Campus Ministry Office.

Following the conclusion of the hunger program, Father Bob will forward the total money collected to Mother Theresa of Calcutta, who has gained world-wide attention for her work in behalf of the poor and dying masses of that Indian city.

The money will be used to help Mother Theresa and her sisters continue their efforts to minister to the needs of these unfortunate human beings.

The program of Lenten sacrifice is actually a tri-school project, with the same Wednesday hunger program being observed simultaneously by students of Pomona Catholic Girls High School and St. Lucy's High School in Glendora.

The funds collected by the girls' schools will also be sent care of the Damien Campus Ministry Office, to Mother Theresa.

Joyce Brothers

Why pick up riders?

DEAR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS: Every time my husband and I go out in our car we end up in a quarrel because he wants to pick up hitchhikers even though we may be going only 20 miles away. I think he does this just to irritate me. I really don't like to travel. He kids me by saying that if I'd take a boat trip with him, we wouldn't be able to pick up riders and so one source of our problems would be over. Do you think I should make an effort to take a trip? Could he be trying to punish me by his insistence or ruining our small local trips? — V.W.

DEAR V.W.: He may be trying to get some tiny revenge for your attitude about long distance travel, but it's more likely that he identifies with the carefree (or what he views as carefree) hitchhikers. Often individuals who pick up these wanderers of the road share vicariously in the lack of responsibility and the sense of freedom that the hikers seem to have.

Most people try to find a balance between security and stimulation. When environment is comfortable and predictable, some like to find a challenge. Young people may put a sack on their back and take to the road and others may get pleasure in the risk involved in picking them up and sharing in the excitement. This can be more than the driver bargained for and may even prove fatal. Police in most areas strongly urge drivers not to pick up hitchhikers.

Your husband may pick up the hitchhikers because he feels a sense of territoriality about the areas in which you drive and he wants to play host by showing his guest around. You might try inviting someone you know along for the ride and fire questions at your husband about the area.

I suggest you definitely make the effort to overcome your anxieties so you can make and enjoy a boat trip.

DEAR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS: Before I gave birth my husband and I had a wonderful sexual relationship. Since I became a mother, however, my husband has stayed away from me and I couldn't understand why. When I asked him about it, he said that women were less interested in sex after they became mothers and that this was as it should be. I don't know if this is true generally, but it certainly isn't in my case. Am I unusual or is there something wrong with our marriage? — G.J.

DEAR G.J.: If your husband is withdrawing from you sexually, then there's something "wrong," at this time, with your marriage. However, the problem can easily be overcome if your husband becomes more enlightened about his attitudes.

Having children doesn't make a woman frigid or disinterested in sex, if she's healthy to begin with. She may be harried and fatigued by the burdens that have been suddenly thrust upon her, but apart from this, her sexual responses are more likely to increase. A woman who feels contented with her sexual role. Many women feel totally free sexually after giving birth to a child.

I believe the real problem lies in your husband's attitudes, possibly stemming from his ethnic background. Some cultures put mother on a pedestal thereby making motherhood and sexuality imcompatible. Perhaps because of his attitude, probably formed in childhood, and as a result of watching his father's behavior with his wife, he may feel sexually inhibited around you, for he sees you as a "mother," too pure to be interested in sex. He identifies you with his own mother and thus sex becomes an act of incest.

These problems can be overcome but he may need professional help. It will be worthwhile, because the future happiness of both of you is at stake.

Eight eye three seats in Alta Loma District

By CONRAD CASLER
PB Correspondent

Five of eight candidates, including one of two incumbents running for three positions in the Alta Loma Elementary School District election are educators or ex-educators.

Providing quality education in a district plagued by mushrooming growth and coping with the new state-mandated law requiring uninionization of teachers setting up a board-teacher adversary system, appears to be the two main issues so far in the campaign.

One-term incumbents Nancy Kettle and Robert Frost are running for re-election while two-term incumbent Walter D. Achuff announced two months ago he would not rerun for office. He said it was "time for younger blood to take over."

Besides Mrs. Kettle and Frost, first-time candidates include Dr. Wayne M. Brindley, a veterinarian; educator Peter J. Guth; educator Lawrence X. Johnson; Robert Tangeman, a General Telephone Co. communications consultant; Patricia J. Tyler, a homemaker and part-time journalist-photographer for Chaffey College, and Donald R.

Claremont band slates festival

The Claremont High School band and drill team booster club will sponsor its annual music festival at the school Saturday at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Lenna Hatch, festival director, said that 81 students from fourth through the 12th grades are expected to compete individually, and to perform in duets, trios, and small ensembles.

The annual festival promotes the study and appreciation of music, and creates an opportunity for beginning and advanced music students to perform publicly as a preliminary experience in preparation for district and regional music festivals.

Each participant will be judged as he or she performs in separate rooms at the high school. Judges invited to participate will come from the music departments of Chaffey College, Cal Poly Pomona, La Verne College, Mt. San Antonio College, Azusa Pacific College, the Alhambra schools, Garey High School, the Claremont Community School of Music, and the Claremont Symphony.

Medals and ribbons will be awarded to those judged superior, and ribbons will be given to those rated excellent and good. Everyone will receive a certificate of participation.

Those who receive superior and excellent ratings will be invited to participate in a public recital Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Claremont High.

The booster club operates under the guidance of Gary Iida, instrumental instructor.

The event Saturday is expected to last at least until 4 p.m.

Musical flea market scheduled

The second annual musical flea market will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Memorial Park, Claremont.

The event is sponsored by the Claremont Intermediate Schools Music Booster Club to raise funds for equipment and camp scholarships for chorus, or orchestra, band, drill team and cheerleaders.

A giant rummage sale will be featured as well as booths selling boutique items, baked goods, plants, hot dogs and soft drinks.

Highlight of the flea market will be daylong entertainment by the Intermediate Schools Music Department.

A blooming flower idea

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — The Philadelphia Flower and Garden Show, one of the largest horticultural exhibits in the country, will run March 13 through 20.

The Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, sponsor of the show, organized the first flower show in the country in June, 1829. The society is celebrating its 150th anniversary this year.

Donors needed for S.D.-L.V. Blood Bank

Donors are needed for the San Dimas-La Verne Community Blood Bank to be held Tuesday from 2:30 to 7 p.m. at the San Dimas Community Building, 245 E. Bonita Ave., San Dimas.

Under a state law which becomes effective on July 1, the use of commercial blood in California will be virtually banned.

This means that the Regional Red Cross Blood Center which serves Los Angeles and Orange counties must increase its quota to meet the additional demand for blood by local hospitals.

Officials have estimated that 80,000 new donors will have to be found or persons who have been donors will have to contribute more frequently.

Appointments are requested and may be made by calling 599-3238 or 629-7455.

Watters, an educator.

Duane Slocum, personnel director for FMC Corp. in Pomona, will appear on the ballot, but he has withdrawn and thrown his support toward Dr. Brindley and Mrs. Tyler.

Trustees Earle Anderson, an executive with Kaiser Steel Co., and Paul Sage, a counselor in Chaffey Union High School District, are not up for election in this race.

Incumbents Mrs. Kettle, who is serving her second year as board president, and Frost cite experience in their bid for re-election. Mrs. Kettle, the mother of two boys in Carnelian School, was a teacher four years and did substitute teaching another two. Her husband teaches and coaches at Alta Loma High School.

Trying for her second term, she said she has attended a number of educational seminars statewide, understands the growing pains now facing the district and is a frequent visitor to the district's four schools.

Frost, an aerospace engineer, a native of the area, said a school board of laymen is good. He believes he helps formulate solid solutions to problems now facing the district, such as growth and collective bargaining.

Dr. Brindley who maintains a small animal practice in the area, said he favors leasing portable buildings to alleviate district overcrowding. He also favors a hard look at the district's curriculum which he terms a "hodge podge." Dr. Brindley said he also favors more discipline in the schools.

Guth, a teacher in the Ontario- Montclair Elementary School District, said his closeness to education better qualifies him as a trustee than laymen. He also cited a general apathy toward education in the district and a need to cope with rapid growth. rapid growth.

Johnson, an aeronautics teacher at Chaffey College, favors a return to strict fundamental classrooms in grades one through four allowing more free choice for students after the fourth grade. Johnson also favors more temporary classrooms rather than permanent buildings to accomodate the current boom, believing enrollment will level off, then drop.

Tangeman, a sales representative for General Telephone Co. in San Bernardino, favors improving communications among the board, teachers and administration. He also would communicate with state officials about unchecked growth in the district. Tangeman also said he would like a study made of public feelings toward year-round school and a more fundamental approach to education.

Mrs. Tyler, a mother of four and part-time photographer - journalist for Chaffey College, serves as PTA president at Jasper School. She said many of Alta Loma's problems of newness and growth could be settled by better communications among the staff administration and public.

Donald Watters, a teacher in Covina Valley Unified School District, said he entered the race in an effort to do something about overcrowded conditions in Alta Loma schools. He doesn't believe the present board is doing a proper job in the area of collective bargaining. He favors year-round school but not the 45 days of attendance, then 15 days off as run by the Chino School District.

Voters to decide on added construction?

Goggin to introduce bill affecting tri-community area

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

Legislation that could stop more homes from being built in Alta Loma, Cucamonga, and Etiwanda will be introduced by Assemblyman Terry Goggin, D-66th Dist.

Goggin surprised officials gathered for a conference on West End growth problems Thursday night by announcing he will sponsor a bill that would force voter approval of new residential construction.

His revelation came near the end of a 3½ hour growth conference at Ontario High School. More than 200 public officials, business and industrial leaders attended the meeting in which various problems caused by rapid residential growth were discussed.

No drastic immediate action to deal with the growth was offered by officials, except for Goggin.

The assemblyman, whose district covers the tri-community area, said he would push for an immediate election so residents could decide if they wanted any more construction. The election would cover 7,000 homes approved, but not yet constructed in the tri-communities.

Goggin said a moratorium recently called by the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors only covers new filings for homes, not ones already approved. "The people in the tri-communities have had it," he noted. "There are double sessions in schools and a lack of discipline. They don't want their area destroyed. The impact of any more homes would be devastating."

Goggin, who said he would introduce the bill in Sacramento this week, ran into heavy opposition from developers who attended the growth conference. Harry Crowell of Crowell-Leventhal builders asked Goggin if he was serious about "shutting down that many jobs."

Supervisor Robert Townsend of Chino said later that he opposes Goggin's move. "The door should not be totally shut on growth."

Officials at the conference urged that a regional plan for growth control be established. "One jurisdiction can't do it alone," said Kenneth Topping, county planning director. "If we can't work together to solve growth problems, then our prerogatives will be taken away from us by state and federal authorities. We need local control of this."

A major growth problem has been sewage. The Chino Basin Municipal Water District has been facing critical sewage loads, and its two treatment plants are either at or exceeding capacity.

Ray Ferguson, general manager of the CBMWD, suggested the possibility of holding development to 700 units per year in treatment plant No. 2's area (Chino-Chino Hills), and 2,200 housing units in plant No. 1's area (Ontario-Upland-Tri-Communities).

He offered other alternatives, including sewage plant expansion which has been held up by federal authorities.

Ferguson noted that plant No. 2 has a capacity of 3 million gallons of sewage per day, and is currently running at 3¾ths million gallons a day. "That is over our capacity."

Plant No. 1 is running at 16 million gallons of sewage a day, which is at capacity. However, the City of Montclair will join the district in a few months, said Ferguson, and that would push the flow to 18 million gallons per day. Tri-community growth would be of major effect on CBMWD, he noted.

Other growth-related problems discussed included water, schools, the law and justice system, and transportation.

Officials of the Cucamonga County Water District and Monte Vista Water District both indicated they have the ability to handle present and future growth demands.

Homer Briggs, former superintendent of the Ontario-Montclair School District, said a number of school districts including Alta Loma, Cucamonga and Mountain View are facing critical growth problems. Double sessions and overcrowded classrooms have already resulted from it.

Officials from Chaffey and Chino school districts said they also are facing growth headaches.

Jim Cramer, county district attorney, told the audience that crime has risen, and with it has come the need for more police personnel. Also, more judges, attorneys and courts will be needed in future years.

Lee Travers, president of the West Valley Transit Service Authority, said growth does not "directly" affect transportation. But, the WVTSA is attempting to expand its authority into Pomona and Claremont, he noted.

Schabarum calls for a 25-cent county tax cut

By BOB NAGEY
PB Staff Writer

Supervisor Peter F. Schabarum is calling for a 25-cent cut in Los Angeles County taxes for next year, contending that a balanced budget based on the current property tax rate would not satisfy him.

The First District Supervisor attacked a statement by Chief County Administrator Harry L. Hufford Thursday that there probably will not be a need for a tax increase next year because of this year's efforts to hold the line in spending throughout the county government.

Schabarum charged that Hufford was being "very conservative" in his estimate and had "underestimated income and overestimated expenditures."

"There is absolutely no reason why we can't continue the belt tightening we started last fall," he declared.

The county's present rate of $4.45 per $100 of assessed valuation was trimmed by six cents last year after a taxpayer revolt that brought thousands of property owners to board meetings. The property owners charged that their homes were being assessed 100 per cent and more over the previous year's values. They said this doubled their taxes.

As a result, the county Board of Supervisors ordered a series of austerity measures, including a reduction in the number of employes, a freeze in money for capital projects and a 2½ per cent cutback in all departmental expenses.

Hufford says that although many "fringe" services have had to be cut, particularly in the health services, the move has been effective.

He told the board that his balanced budget was based on no pay raises for next year, a six per cent increase in assessed valuation, and an understanding that the county could not consider the cost of Medi-Cal over which it has no control.

A hassle over medical payments with the state has lost the health department $11 million in billings this year. The supervisors hope that a compromise can be effected whereby that amount can be settled for $6 or $7 million.

Hufford said the budget also made the assumption that the departmental cutbacks would continue at the same rate next year and thus the budget could be reduced by $17.4 million. The county's current budget is $3.086 billion, up $213 million from the year before.

Schabarum contended that Hufford "has always been very conservative in his estimates, and is conservative now."

He said he felt the increase in assessed valuation will be considerably higher than six per cent, yielding to the county substantially more money than the CAO's estimate. He said he also felt that Hufford was underestimating the state and federal subventions the county will get next year.

"Mr. Hufford's bright budgetary picture of no anticipated tax increase is only part of the picture," he declared. "If we can hold the line on expenses, as predicted by Mr. Hufford, we can certainly cut the property tax rate."

Imperial students picket

Some 300 students at Imperial Junior High School in Ontario picketed the school Wednesday and a lesser number did the same Thursday in protest of the resignation of principal Tom Cross. The students were reported back in their classes today.

The demonstrations took place in a field across from the school. The students marched in orderly circles bearing hand-made placards that read "Save Mr. Cross!" "No Cross, no school," "If Cross goes, we go" and similar slogans. Cross visited the classrooms Tuesday and urged the students not to leave class. On Wednesday he went to them as they picketed and asked them again to return to the school.

Students who remain out of school are liable to be suspended, according to Supt. Jack Jones.

Cross was named principal of Imperial a year and a half ago, and friction developed between him and some of the teachers as long ago as last year. The chief issues were reported lack of communication and laxity of discipline.

Last month Cross submitted his resignation, which was accepted by the board of trustees effective at the end of the school year. A group of parents held meetings in his support charging that he was "pressured" to resign. The group plans to attend the school board meetingThursday to demand that Cross be reinstated.

Public hearing scheduled

Answers on Expo to be provided soon

By MAE TATE
PB Staff Writer

Two regional communication commissioners for Expo 81 told the Montclair Community Action Committee Thursday that all answers must be in on the international exposition by May 16.

Charles Laurutis Jr. of Westlake Village and Ted Dutton of Upland gave an update on the progress of the international fair scheduled for Ontario Motor Speedway. They were greeted with skepticism and nitpicking, particularly on matters that they and Expo 81 Corp. officials are legally restricted from discussing until plans and bids have been finalized and the application before the Securities Exchange Commission is ruled upon.

Councilman Tom McClure, the principle antagonist, sat in the audience asking scorching questions, most of which concerned issues regarding sewerage, employment, housing, water and financing of the exposition. Although the two commissioners assured him that all the answers must be provided by the time the U.S. Department of Commerce conducts the public hearing on the proposal, McClure remained adamant in his opposition.

Laurutis reported that the public hearing is tentatively scheduled for May 16 at the Chaffey High School's Spring Auditorium in Ontario.

Bill Phillips of the U. S. Commerce Department confirmed that tentative date by phone this morning.

He said the only open date at the high school facility which accommodates 2,500 was May 16, and the department is now in the process of getting approval to contract a hearing officer. That should be finalized "within two weeks as a fair guess."

Phillips said that according to the law, the hearing officer will appropriately publicize the event 30 days prior to the hearing in order to inform the mass numbers interested in the matter.

Laurutis and Dutton gave pertinent information on Expo 81 during the lengthy, sometimes confusing, meeting in the Montclair Council Chambers. They reported:

—Expo 81 Corp. is considering five proposals on the loan for the necessary funds to purchase the bonds on the speedway, and will have a selection within 10 days.

—Firms in Switzerland and Japan have both submitted proposals for a monorail mass rapid transit system from OMS to Union Station in Los Angeles that will be at no cost to taxpayers; the right of way has been obtained; and an announcement on the matter is imminent.

—Expo 81 Corp. is entertaining proposals from various firms for an advanced on-site sewerage treatment plant that would not hook into the local sewerage lines; a water recycling system; a fully-staffed on-site hospital and security police force.

—The Bureau of International Expositions in Paris, the international agency that regulates the class one fair, has received applications from 125 nations and 22 major industries for participation in Expo 81.

—Proposals submitted thus far for the use of OMS after the exposition include a large sports convention center with racing; a world trade center as a "Peace Corps in reverse"; an international facility for the handicapped; the site of the 1984 Olympics; and an industrial complex.

—The profits of the exposition will be turned over to the courts for disposition. Expo 81 Corp. will have no say in where the profits go.

—The BIE has established a new regulation that if anyone wants to buy a pavilion after the exposition, the person or nation must offer lifetime maintenance in order to avoid any possible blight later.

—Airport managers from Ontario International, Orange County, Los Angeles International and Van Nuys are actively involved in exploring air travel and park and ride facilities to alleviate some of the problems caused by additional traffic.

—Expo 81 Corp. will be responsible financially for the impact of the fair upon the surrounding communities. Guidelines will be established to determine how far that responsibility extends; and Expo 81 must pay the costs of any escalation in such areas as police and fire protection and court cases because of arrest rate increases.

Laurutis and Dutton cleared up a misconception that most valley officials are handicapped with regarding the commissioners. The commissioners in the nine Southern California counties are volunteers and are not paid by Expo 81 Corp., Laurutis noted.

"We are community and business people who serve as liaisons between Expo 81 Corp. and the people. We bring the questions and concerns from the people to Expo 81 Corp.; extract answers and information Expo 81 and take it back to the communities. We are seeking answers just as you are," Laurutis said.

"Until we can get all of the questions and funnel them in, we can't get the answers. We are begging for your participation. And participation in the commissions does not mean an endorsement of Expo 81," Dutton said.

McClure commented "The only thing I see Expo 81 doing is creating a burden on my environment and my taxes."

Tennis court lights create controversy

The tennis players are happy, but the residents are complaining.

Subjects of the mixed emotions are the new $3,100 high-pressure sodium lights at the Mallows Park tennis court in Claremont.

According to city officials, the lamps provide 50 per cent more light with 60 per cent less electricity than the old lights.

City recreation official Ron Hagan said that the new lights were turned on Monday night, and that the reaction from tennis buffs is that the lighting is "super."

"Of course, we have had a few complaints from residents about the increased lighting until 10 p.m.," Hagan said.

The expense of the new lights came from development funds from the condominium project at Seventh Street and Yale Avenue.

Bingo in Pomona being threatened

By ED PRATHER
PB Staff Writer

A legal snare is threatening, at least temporarily, to halt the playing of bingo at some fraternal or service organizations in Pomona.

The problem, uncovered by Pomona City Clerk Larry Thomas, concerns how the organizations are designated under the state's Revenue and Taxation Code.

When the state law allowing bingo at local option was approved last year, it provided that religious and non-profit organizations listed under a certain subsection of the code would be eligible for permits to play bingo.

As it turns out, six of the seven organizations obtaining permits in Pomona are listed in a related, but different subsection — which technically makes them ineligible.

"It's a technical problem the city is stuck with for the moment," said Patrick Sampson, city attorney.

Sampson and Thomas said they have urged local organization members to write Assemblyman Bill McVittie, D-Upland, state Sen. Ruben Ayala, D-Chino, in support of a proposed amendment to the law which would broaden legal requirements and make more organizations eligible.

In the meantime, Thomas said he is not aware of any plan to close down the bingo games at local organizations which had previously obtained permits.

Professional rodeo scheduled

A professional rodeo will be held March 25 at the Ekstrand Elementary School in San Dimas.

Sponsored by the Ekstrand Home and School Club, the program will start at 4:30 p.m. with the opening of game booths and refreshment stands. The rodeo starts at 8 p.m. on the school field.

Admission will be $2.25 for adults and $1.25 for children.

Boys and girls are different

The feminist dream of a society free of sexual stereotypes is running up against some hard and apparently unchangeable truths about human nature.

One of them is that, despite efforts by adults to encourage them to do otherwise, "girls play with dolls and boys play war."

So reports Dr. Brian Sutton-Smith of Columbia University Teachers College, who studied 40 boys and 40 girls in the New York area to find out whether attempts to encourage youngsters "to expand beyond traditional roles" had any impact on their play. It didn't.

He found that no matter what toys were available, the girls played with toys concerned with domestic operations while the boys played with toys oriented to activities outside the home.

Similar findings have been published in another source, which can hardly be accused of bias against women.

Sociologist Janet Lever reports in "Ms." magazine that in a year of watching fifth-graders at play, she found that girls tended to play indoors while boys preferred outside play.

Boys also played in larger groups, as in team sports or "war" games, and played in more mixed-age groups. Girls engaged in less co-operative, less competitive exercises.

Feminists may argue, of course, that subtle and perhaps unconscious pressures by parents and society are responsible for this stereotyped behavior by boys and girls.

But that only raises the question of why these subtle influences should be so powerful, while overt attempts to make girls and boys more alike are so remarkably unsuccessful. Most of the mothers in Sutton-Smith's study, incidentally, said they were against toys that catered to stereotyped sex roles.

Maybe boys and girls — and men and women — really are different, and what the feminist movement should be working for is not a unisex society but one in which persons of both sexes are as free as possible simply to be themselves and to realize their natural potentials.

Memoirs

Doc Peirsol

Just in jest

According to the latest count, there's a motor vehicle theft in the United States every 32 seconds. And that, according to my pocket calculator, adds up to 113 cars an hour, 2,700 cars a day, and just shy of one million car thefts a year. Figuring an average value of $4,000 a car, that's a yearly loss to automobile owners and insurance companies of approximately $4 billion.

Now there's economic loss we didn't have back in the horse and buggy days. Of course, there were horse thieves; but our forthright forefathers took care of them in short order by hanging them on the nearest roadside tree. — Yes, things were different in that earlier day America. And more and more I am becoming convinced that what this country needs most if it expects to continue on for another 200 years, is a return to something akin to that type of good old days rugged pioneer justice in place of today's bleeding heart concept of criminal rehabilitation rather than criminal elimination.

Getting by with murder

Dear Editor:

Your tear-jerker on the incarceration of our youth, presumably waiting execution, is somewhat exaggerated.

True the people of California did say a few should be hanged, probably with the mature in mind. Gov. Brown and our Supreme Court have decreed otherwise and for practical or impractical purposes they are the law.

Incarceration may have been the practice back in the dark ages, often referred to as the good old days. Today murder is not taken all that seriously. Our Judge Howard McClain did give a youth 18 months for murder a few weeks back. The chances of his actually being held in the pokey that long are slight. One of his earlier murder cases was out in just four weeks.

So you really need not fret. Our youngsters will remain free to take pot shots at the passer-by, police, cars or whatever. We do hope the Prog will continue keeping score for us.

Injustice to DMV employes

Dear Editor:

Was reporter Mae Tate being facetious in her Department of Motor Vehicles evaluation? I do hope so.

I feel this article was an injustice to our DMV employes. I have never encountered any unfriendliness or noise in the Pomona DMV office, as she described. Over the past 20 years, I have run in on my lunch hour and in 20 minutes, I have been graded, tested, photographed (without curlers), thumbprinted and on my way.

I have questioned my co-workers and they, also, encountered only efficient services. Why must this department be put down by one reporter's opinion? Barbara King

A ready-made majority

Dear Editor:

Pomona is a charter city. As I understand it, the idea of the charter city was to eliminate the effects of partisan politics. That is, it was meant to reduce any damage accruing from "machine politics."

In Pomona it appears we have a situation developing which violates this concept. In our impending election, the incumbent mayor's campaign chairman is an incumbent councilwoman. The mayor, Ray Lepire, is sharing a campaign manager with an incumbent councilman, Ben Ochoa.

This smacks of a stacked deck. It seems to promise a ready-made majority vote on the issues brought before the city council.

State fund, auto misuse

By EARL G. WATERS

The disclosure of a near $2,400 bonus payment to State College Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke in connection with a $4,000 annual salary raise, despite Gov. Jerry Brown's and the legislature's mandate that pay raises for all state employes were to be limited to a flat $70, shouldn't dwarf two other areas where state management problems would seem to exist. Both, if not controlled, could be very costly to the taxpayers if in fact they aren't already.

For Dumke's salary of $64,549 served to turn the spotlight on some other things. One is the fact that state policy provides all state-owned passenger cars will be of the light class, excepting for the governor and other constitutionally elective officers. Law enforcement agencies are also excepted. Furthermore, the law specifically provides that no state officer shall use any state-owned vehicle other than in the conduct of official state business.

Yet Dumke somehow managed to get the state to furnish him with a Buick which he uses regularly for the personal convenience of commuting from his home to office, a distance of more than 80 miles roundtrip. Questioned about this James Jensen, director of governmental affairs for the colleges, defended Dumke's car use by alleging that all department heads, as well as other top officials, have assigned vehicles which they frequently use to go back and forth from home to office.

A check with Cal Locher, chief of the fleet management of General Services, disclosed that not all top officials have assigned cars. But it did determine that not all state vehicles are owned and managed by his agency. Various departments own their own vehicles. Even so a trip mileage log is required for each vehicle. But Locher said that requirement isn't enforced on high level officials who are permitted to file a report showing only the total monthly mileage. What it means is that little or no control is being exercised over hundreds of state-owned vehicles. For, in addition to department heads, there are many small independent agencies such as district fairs, where auto useage is not supervised. It appears to be a case similar to the military where rank has its privilege.

It has been about 30 years since the legislature cracked down on the abuse of state cars. At that time a caste system had developed which provided those in top spots, who usually had the least legitimate use for assigned cars, the heaviest, most expensive autos. The ones at the bottom, who generally put on the most mileage, got Fords. Whatever the car, those at all levels commonly used the cars for personal convenience including travel to and from home. Some glaring abuses were found where employes would take state cars on prolonged vacations, boat trailers and all. It appears it is time for the legislature to look again.

The other, and maybe even more serious problem, rests in the management of state college funds. The Dumke story brought out the fact that he lives in a half million dollar Bel Air mansion owned by the state for which he pays the paltry rent of $145 a month. Contrary to legislative policy the state paid most of that back last year in the form of maintenance expenses amounting to $1,500. But maintenance costs were more and Dumke dipped into college foundation funds intended for educational purposes for another $6,500. This led to the discovery that neither the Department of Finance nor any other agency regularly audits such funds.

Some years ago the Senate discovered scandalous loose management of these student foundation funds including conversion of money to personal use by college presidents and donation of it to political campaigns. Dumke himself, then president of San Francisco State, was found to have used student funds for personal expenses. A reform was promised with strict auditing by the Finance Department. It seems time for another investigation of these matters by the legislature.

As Alaska goes...?

Nearly 80 million votes were cast in the 1976 presidential election. Of these, the Libertarian Party, which was on the ballot in 30 states, received about 180,000, or slightly more than .002 per cent of the total.

The Libertarians couldn't be more pleased.

"The Libertarian Party has clearly established itself as the Number Three political party in the United States as a result of the electoral achievements of Roger MacBride and David Bergland," proclaims the party's newspaper in an analysis of the election. MacBride and Bergland were the presidential and vice presidential candidates of the party, whose platform calls for the virtual dismantling of the federal and state governments.

MacBride edged out Lester Maddox of the American Independent Party and easily outdistanced candidates from the Socialist Labor, Socialist Workers, Communist, Prohibition and other splinter parties.

To be sure, maverick candidate Eugene McCarthy received over 650,000 votes to place third in the presidential sweepstakes behind Jimmy Carter and Gerald Ford. But McCarthy has no permanent party organization that will remain a part of the national political scene.

The Libertarians further point out that MacBride received nearly six per cent of the popular vote in Alaska, or a total of 6,773 (as Alaska goes, so goes . . ?), and in Arizona, Nevada, Ohio and several other states, the Libertarian candidates polled more votes than the difference between the two leading candidates.

"This," says the newspaper, "is an important step toward political legitimacy. It gives the Libertarian Party impact that all political observers and activists must consider."

Impact? Well, there certainly is something to be said for enthusiasm and for looking on the bright side of things.

Hughes fled IRS, as well

WASHINGTON — The late Howard Hughes, according to his secret papers, fled the country in 1970 to escape the clutches of the Internal Revenue Service.

His dark-of-the-night departure has remained an unsolved mystery for more than six years. He was sneaked out of his Desert Inn penthouse in a stretcher and hauled down the fire escape for nine floors.

The next day, aides concealed his disappearance by ordering a special Thanksgiving dinner for him from the Desert Inn kitchen. But the eccentric billionaire was already 3,000 miles away in another penthouse in Nassau's Britannia Beach Hotel.

Within a year, he began to get restless. A top aide issued this written dictum from the penthouse on Nov. 10, 1971: "He (Hughes) wants to know from Chester how long this IRS thing will keep us out of the country." Chester is the billionaire's abrasive lawyer, Chester Davis.

The following year, Hughes changed penthouses again to the Intercontinental Hotel in Managua, Nicaragua. Then an earthquake forced him suddenly to flee on Dec. 23, 1972. He took the risk of landing in Miami but changed the destination in midflight to Ft. Lauderdale to confuse the authorities.

A top IRS official, G.T. Register, got wind of Hughes' arrival and even anticipated that the recluse might make a last-minute change in the flight plan. So he had agents waiting at Ft. Lauderdale with a subpoena for the elusive Hughes.

Hughes' aides stalled the agents until they could talk to attorney Davis, who placed a midnight call to Washington. Believe it or not, the agents received instructions not to serve Hughes with the subpoena. The midnight decision was made by then-Internal Revenue Commissioner Johnnie Walters and Assistant Commissioner John Hanlon.

Through our own Hughes investigation, meanwhile, we gained access to his private files and arranged for the IRS to photograph them. These show his personal financial empire was valued over $2.3 billion.

It included seven hotel-casinos, 1,200 mines, an airline, a munitions works, assorted television properties and 30,000 acres of undeveloped desert. The Nevada casinos alone frequently handle more than $1 million in a day of wagering.

The billionaire controlled most of his operations through the Las Vegas-based Summa Corporation and the Miami-based Howard Hughes Medical Institute.

His papers show that, by ordinary standards, he had plenty of loose cash on hand. The year before he died, for example, Summa amassed $182.4 million in savings and liquid investments. Yet this was a decrease. The records disclose of $32.5 million from the previous year. According to a secret analysis, Hughes was short of cash "to cover nonoperating and nonrecurring costs."

With all these millions to juggle, the old eccentric sometimes lost track of huge sums. He failed, for instance, to cash 109 checks totalling $186,250.03 that were issued to him by the Hughes Tool Company between 1957 and 1961. His aides had to urge him to redeem the checks.

Hughes also neglected to place some of his savings in interest-bearing accounts. After much prodding from his aides, Hughes wrote a letter to the First City National Bank in Houston, stating: "Please transfer the funds . . . in my name . . . in the amount of $145,621.35 to my account in the Texas Commerce Bank of Houston." The money had lain dormant, gathering no interest, for 17 years.

The files also show that Hughes had to be told that he belonged to three country clubs — Wilshire, Lakeside and Los Angeles.

He was also absentminded about his will, which explains the controversy that has now developed among his would-be heirs.

Talking back to computers

The time has come, I think, to rise up and do something about computers. They are getting too uppity.

A lot of us have thought so for a long time. Especially folks like me, who are still trying to figure out how the telephone works.

But wait till you hear what they're up to now. Junk telephone calls, no less.

I am not making this up. One of the giants of silicone silliness is going around bragging that it has developed an automated dialing system it says can place 1,000 calls a day, each giving a pre-recorded sales pitch.

We're all resigned to junk mail. But after 10,000 chances to win Zsa Zsa Gabor's Rolls Royce, a desert lot in Arizona, or whatever, some sixth sense tells us to throw it out without even opening it.

But how do you defend yourself against a junk call from a computer?

As I understand it (and that's an iffy situation right there), the ring sounds like any other phone call. And, like any other phone call, you splash out of the tub or race upstairs to gasp a breathless hello.

That sets off a click somewhere and the computer goes into its spiel . . . pauses to record your answer . . . hangs up (leaving you standing there, dripping or panting) . . . and automatically dials the next random number.

What happens after that is anybody's guess. Probably the computer turns over a day's printouts to a salesman, who makes a follow-up call (live) on any householder who gives an encouraging response.

(Let us not dwell on what he does about the others. Reports them to the police, obscene-answers division, most likely.)

And this is only a computer relaying a pre-recorded message. You may as well know the worst: now they've got computers that will talk to you. With human-like voices.

It's a new gadget called an "emphasis controlled speech synthesizer," and it's based on something known as a "phase vocoder." Scientists already know how to give a computer a vocabulary of spoken words, even how to string them together into sentences.

The phase vocoder mixes the pitch, intensity and duration of the words into a natural-sounding message. They've got this thing perfected to the point where you get no clue whatever to the fact that you're talking to an electronic impulse.

Now they're working on the ability of computers to listen, and that's the improvement I'm waiting for. A chance, after all these frustrating years, to talk back to the little monsters.

What we're dealing with here, in case you've been too busy trying to straighten out your credit-card bill to notice, is the great-great-grandson of the original computer, the Hollerith key punch. That originated back in 1890 and it stored information by biting little holes in cards.

Then in 1946 somebody discovered vacuum tubes could do it faster. And they did, thousands of times faster, until magnetic discs came along in 1953.

From 1959 on, it was transistors, integrated circuitry and silicone chips that can make millions of calculations per second and are so tiny they fit in the eye of a needle.

They even, in this fifth generation of computer progression to minicomputers and microcomputers, have an ultraviolet light process that can print the entire Bible — all 1,250 pages of the Old and New Testaments — on a wafer no bigger than a postage stamp.

The old keypunch's offspring can perform 1,700 different operations . . . in five seconds . . . at a cost of 28 cents.

Electronic genes like that may be helpful to industry . . . even to astronauts wandering around in outer space. Just don't, please, give them my phone number.

Think on these things

It's odd how important something can be at one time in our lives — and so totally unimportant in another. As we stand here, at this moment, at this place, we believe we're going to feel this way forever and ever. Nothing could ever change it, it is footed in concrete, so to speak.

As lovely or unlovely as something is — nothing stays the same way. It cannot, for it either grows into something new and better — or it decays right where it is. Life is a new and moving thing every moment, and the best we can do is to breath deeply of the life giving substance — and release all that would contradict it. Avoid crystallizing anything in place, for it will shatter and be nothing.

Dr. Miller

Cat's tail could be frostbitten

DEAR DR. MILLER: In very cold weather could the tip of a cat's tail ever get frozen? — R.B.

DEAR R.B.: Under extreme conditions, particularly if the cat's tail somehow got wet, frostbite's a possibility. Pussycats aren't prone to this affliction. However, on those rare occasions when felines are frostbitten, the most common problem site is the ear tips.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I read they use Epsom salts to prevent tetanus in cows. How would this work on my gelding, Big Jack? I heard of a horse near here that died of tetanus. — N.K.

DEAR N.K.: Tetanus in cattle wouldn't be prevented by using magnesium sulphate (Epson salts), but this can prevent grass tetany, a disease caused by a deficiency of magnesium and calcium in pregnant or milking cows. Quite obviously, Big Jack, being a horse in the first place and an unlikely candidate for pregnancy in the second, wouldn't be susceptible to grass tetany. However, horses are highly susceptible to tetanus (a deep-wound toxic infection) and should be protected — via vaccination, though, not a dose of Epsom salts.

RX FOR RECOVERY

"Follow your (pet) doctor's orders" sounds on the surface like a simple enough prescription. But very few pet people do. It would be an optimistic estimate to say one in four pets receive the care their doctor has ordered for them.

More than half of all pet owners make mistakes in giving prescribed medication — to much, too little, at the wrong time, or (and very frequently) not at all. Pet patient instructions — from activity restrictions to diet, to low-stress care, to follow-up visits, are seldom carried through as recommended by the veterinarian. Results: all too often poor as far as the poor pet is concerned: Partial recovery with relapse, slowed recovery with considerably more expense than would have been involved with proper follow-through in the first place, or, sadly, failure of the patient to recover at all. The prescription for prompt patient recovery and consequent owner satisfaction then is: First, early treatment if possible; second, in any event, proper follow-through of the doctor's orders. To do this, be sure you understand exactly what those orders are by carefully listening to instructions or reading them through and asking any necessary questions to clarify them completely.

Should you change the care or medication, or even should you decide to discontinue all support because it no longer seems necessary, at the very least check with the doctor regarding consequences before you make the decision.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Someone may try today to shift blame for their errors to you. Don't get enmeshed in their tricky maneuvering.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do only what you deem to be for your own good today. Overreaction to social pressure could create a costly episode.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Family linen should not be aired in public today. Doing so is an invitation for outside interests to butt-in and further complicate things.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're too easily intimidated today. Just because they roar doesn't mean others are right and you're wrong.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Cutting corners on something you hope will be a tax advantage could be disastrous. It's just your luck you'd be the person they audit.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You resent someone making decisions for you today —.and justifiably so. Especially if the outcome is lopsidedly to the other person's advantage.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't take on any more long-range obligations than you can comfortably handle at this time. You'd be asking for frustration and anxiety.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your opinions today are likely to be contrary to the others in your peer group. You could feel everyone is out of step except you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's admirable to face up to challenges today, but it's folly to jump in against heavily stacked odds.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You have a tendency today to regard feelings of apprehension as flashes of intuition. Be certain you see things for what they are.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're still on shaky ground today in commercial situations. There's a strong possibility you could overspend for something.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You have more clout than someone you're going to be dealing with on an eyeball-to-eyeball basis today. It doesn't behoove you to take advantage needlessly.

Your Birthday, March 5, 1977

Ann Landers

Maybe grab your hat and run

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married for two years. He seemed normal in every way and I never had any reason to question his masculinity. Our sex life is good, but I never had any experience before I met him so maybe I'm not much of a judge.

About six months ago, he asked me to make up his face "just to see what he'd look like if he were a woman." I thought it was a big joke and did it. I must say he looked beautiful.

A few weeks later, he asked me to make up his face again. This time I was uneasy and told him it was the last time I'd play the game. An hour later he came into the living room wearing my best housecoat and a wig, which he must have purchased himself. I was so upset I couldn't look at him.

Now I know what has been happening to my "missing" bras and pantyhose. I am just sick. Is this a hormone deficiency, a mental illness or what? I need some answers before I go crazy. — Morristown, N.J.

Dear N.J.: Your husband may be a transvestite whose kicks end with the dressing up. Some psychiatrists say all transvestites are either homosexual or bisexual.

Please discuss this problem with a counselor. Your letter raises many questions which I cannot answer. Since you've been married only two years, it may be that the way to fight this situation is with your hat. Grab it and run.

Dear Ann Landers: I think I'm in love, but I can't get myself to say yes until I correct a few things that are bothering me.

George smokes cigars. I hate the smell. He has a nervous cough that is very irritating. When I mentioned it last week he said, "What cough?" He wasn't even aware he had it.

George bites his nails when he's watching TV or a movie. His partial plates click when he chews food. His manners are not good at the table. He talks with his mouth full and never remembers to pass anything. The salt, sugar, gravy, whatever, stops with him.

I've been a widow for nine years and want to get married. George has many good qualities. Do you think I will be able to change these few things that I find so annoying? — Hopeful

Dear H: Unless you are prepared to accept George as he is, with his smelly cigars, irritating cough, chewed-up fingernails, clicking partials and poor table manners, better say no and stop seeing him. Marriage is not a reform school.

Dear Ann Landers: I started to work in this office six weeks ago and I love my job. But the men I work with have discovered I blush easily.

Now I'm the prime target for off-color jokes and crude gimmicks sold in cheap novelty shops. One guy springs this stuff on me and the whole group gathers around to watch my face turn red.

I am 20 years old and no prude, but I don't like barroom stories and crummy gadgets. Is there any way I can learn to control my blushing? — Tomato Face

Dear Face: Blushing is an involuntary act and can't be controlled.

It's refreshing to know there's a girl around who can still blush. View it as an asset, honey. You are one of the last of a vanishing breed.

Got those wedding bell blues over costs . . . guest list . . . what to wear . . . and other details? Ann Landers's completely new "The Bride's Guide" will help. The most suspicious diners

A reader vows this is a true story. In her Sunday school class one morning she asked, "And what did the disciples say before they ate the fish?"

A five-year-old boy in the front row waved his hand vigorously and said, "I know. They said, 'These fish got any bones in them?'"

There is every reason to believe this story is true.

Five-year-olds are, without a doubt, the most suspicious diners in this world. They will eat mud (raw or baked), rocks, paste, crayons, ballpoint pens, pillows, moving goldfish, cigarette butts, electrical plugs, soap, cleansing cream, cat food and newspapers.

Try to coax a bit of beef stew into their mouths and they'll give you that look — like the puppy when you stand over him with the Sunday paper rolled up.

I got so much food spit back into my face when my kids were small, I put windshield wipers on my glasses. Then one day my husband said, "How many babies died from malnutrition last year while playing in their food?"

"That's not the point. She doesn't trust me."

"What trust?" he said. "She's a finicky eater."

"She is not finicky. She eats anything — just so long as it isn't on a spoon and my arm isn't attached to it."

"Look, when she gets a little older, she'll change and will probably eat us out of house and home."

He was wrong. She was the only kid in nursery school with her own food taster. My hot dogs never tasted as good as the ones you dipped in watered-down mustard and paid 60 cents for at a football game. My cherry pies never created the excitement of those under heating lamps at the Golden Arches. My pizzas never tasted as wonderful as the cold ones that stuck to the lid of the cardboard box.

One day she said, "Boy, I just had the greatest meal at Kathy's house. Her mother is some cook!"

I raced to the phone. "Helen! What did you have for dinner last night? My daughter raved about it."

"Potato chips and cold cuts."

I try not to overreact. After all, you burn a kid's tongue once when he's 15 months old and he carries a grudge forever. That's what motherhood is all about.

But last year, when she sent Sara Lee a Mother's Day card, that was cruel.

Dr. Lamb

Avoid all slimming gimmicks

DEAR DR. LAMB — Today I read a letter in your column that could have been written by me. I have gone on diets and have lost weight but cannot lose my tummy or slim my fat thighs. One of my friends actually asked me if I was pregnant because I look like I am four or five months along. It is so maddening to diet day after day and still be ashamed of my figure.

Could you please send me The Health Letter number mentioned?

Also what are your views on the slimming gimmicks, such as waist belts, that are found advertised in magazines?

DEAR READER — My view on the slimming gimmicks is — watch your wallet — they are useless.

There are only two things that will help — eliminating excess fat and toning up your muscles with exercises. I am sending you The Health Letter you requested. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents for it with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

There is no such thing as spot reducing. You can't reduce the stomach without getting the fat off and the fat out. There is usually as much fat inside the abdomen as outside.

The best way to do that is with a combination of dieting sensibly and regular exercise. Daily walking as part of your program will help more than you realize. You can add that to the exercises listed in The Health Letter. Stick with it and you will eventually be a new, slimmer you.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My dad's hands and feet have almost doubled in size in the last two years. The doctors do not know what is wrong with him. He has bad headaches and wrings and twists his hands constantly. He entered the hospital this past week with occasional loss of memory. I would appreciate your opinion of what could be wrong with him. I am very worried about him.

DEAR READER — It may take some detailed studies to be certain and I am sure your dad is getting those in the hospital. If your description is accurate and his feet and hands have actually enlarged considerably there is a possibility that he has acromegaly.

What is acromegaly? It is a condition caused by overproduction of pituitary growth hormone in an individual after the normal growth phase is over. The long bones can't grow any more because they have calcified but the hands and feet can enlarge. The nose and jaws may also enlarge changing the appearance of the face.

The condition is often associated with an enlarging pituitary gland just underneath the brain. This master hormone gland is partially encased in a bony socket. Its enlargement may cause severe headaches. High blood pressure often accompanies the disorder.

Of course, if you really mean that your father's hands and feet are just deformed from arthritis or some other disease then the problem of acromegaly is out the window. I am sure your dad's doctors will check for acromegaly if he really has true enlargement of his feet and hands.

—Adm. Stansfield Turner, President Carter's nominee to head the CIA, deploring simplistic comparisons between U.S. and Soviet power.

The Professor looked at his jack-10 of hearts with a jaundiced eye. If only he could give one of them to dummy he would have an easy two heart tricks. As it was East had won the heart lead with the queen and returned the suit and West had been mean enough to hold back his king. There was that good ace of hearts in dummy and no way to get to it.

There was still a play for the hand. Maybe clubs would break 3-3. Maybe the defense would slip and maybe an end play might develop.

Therefore the Professor led a low spade at trick three. East won with the nine; thought about leading a third heart, but planked down the jack of clubs instead.

Things looked bleak, but there was always some hope. The professor cashed the ace of spades, the three top diamonds and the other two top clubs. Then he drew East in with the fourth club.

That gave the defense three tricks and East cashed his last diamond for a fourth after which he had to lead a heart to dummy's ace.

Dirty words screened out

Every state that issues vanity license plates for cars has to have a screening committee to sift out the dirty words that are requested by some applicants. Remarkable how many off-color nouns and verbs can turn up in those six-letter combinations! If that committee does its job, it also checks for pornographic meanings in French, German, Spanish, Italian, Japanese and Russian as well as English. Can't tell you some of the amazing syllables that have been requested. I'm too bashful.

A Japanese army overran Korea and much of China in the Sixteenth Century. And those soldiers took home 38,700 noses they'd cut off the faces of the defeated mainlanders. Those noses were buried near a temple in Kyoto. Odd tomb, that one.

WILLIAM AND MARY

Q. "I've heard of the College of William and Mary, but don't know who William and Mary were . . . ?"

A. First cousins of noble British birth whose marriage was arranged when he was 27 and she was 15. They wound up in 1689 as the first joint rulers in English history. It was they who endowed the college at Williamsburg, Va., in 1693. In his early married years, William played around with his wife's maid of honor, but eventually he straightened up and flew right, and after Mary's death in 1694, he described her as having been absolutely faultless, and his grief until his own death eight years later was profound.

Q. "In how many of these United States is the largest lake therein manmade?"

A. In 38. Some engineers contend that's one thing, the making of lakes, that people can do better than nature, although numerous citizens downstream from broken dams disagree.

COMMUNIST HEAVEN

Did you hear the one about the gatekeeper at the Communist heaven? An old boy showed up to apply for entry, and the gatekeeper asked him for his qualifications. The newcomer said he was the son of a rich industrialist who'd married the daughter of a middle-class tradesman. He said he personally had been a successful writer, and that after inheriting a lot of money, he'd married a baroness. The data was too much for the gatekeeper who snapped, "You think this qualifies you for Communist heaven?" The man said, "Please give me a chance. My name is Karl Marx and . . . "

Alta Loma tests Victor Valley

Foyt, as usual, is a busy man

At least three of the top drivers will be driving in both races Sunday in the Datsun Twin 200 at OMS.

A.J. Foyt, Johnny Rutherford and Bobby Unser will take part in the 200-mile stock car race at 10:30 a.m. and come right back in the 200-mile championship (Indy) car event which follows.

Mike Hiss and a couple of others also are possibilities. With a number of the crack racing teams previewing their new cars Sunday, it's a great way to kick off the 1977 season.

Foyt will be making his 250th start in the Indy cars. The fiery Texan has won more AC championship races than any driver in history.

He also hasn't done too bad in stock car racing. A.J.'s latest achievement has been to add the International Race of Champions (IROC) title the last two years.

What's more, the canny Foyt has accomplished this feat without ever winning a single one of the 16 races. Points are distributed on the order of finish and "Super Tex" always finished high.

The last two seasons, his point totals have been higher than those of any other driver. The two titles have netted him a cool $100,000.

The best part of it is, he hasn't had to share it with sponsors or car owners. The cars are all supplied by IROC and prepared by Penske Racing.

The only thing A.J. had to risk was his life. He's been doing that regularly for 20 some years.

That final race

The final race of last season's IROC series was at Daytona. Foyt was the point leader going into the event. In order to successfully defend his title, all A.J. had to do was finish ahead of Bobby Unser, Buddy Baker and Johnny Rutherford, the three drivers closest to him in the point standings.

But that was difficult because Foyt's car was not running well.

"I'm no quitter," A.J. said after the race, "but my car was running so sour at first I felt like quitting."

What the sly Texan did was to "draft" his way to a second-place finish which insured another title.

From midpoint of the race to the finish, Foyt glued the front end of his car to leader Cale Yarborough's rear bumper. It was a two-car draft that pulled both cars to a victory.

The two cars were linked so closely that the front end of A.J's car was a crumpled mess by the time the race ended.

"I looked back and saw that beat up thing and knew there was no way he (Foyt) could go anywhere if he wanted to," Yarborough told the press.

With his car not running right, Foyt had not thought of trying to pass Yarborough.

"The way I could go best was by hanging on to him," said A.J. "I was going for the series title and I saw right away my car was not competitive.

"I knew we both had a chance to win so I picked him up as my own little friend."

The Foyt method

But being A.J. Foyt, the hard-driving Texan was not content to sit back and enjoy the ride. He kept banging into Yarborough's bumper so hard it would snap Cale's head back.

"Well, I'd look back and see the rest of those guys back there like a pack of wolves, so I'd give him (Yarborough) a little kick to get us going," Foyt grinned.

That's A.J. Always in a hurry.

HERE 'N THERE — It was windy and cold at OMS Friday and more of the same was expected today.

Foyt made his first and only appearance shortly after 3 p.m. He turned a lap at 187.317 mph, sixth fastest, and then ducked back into his garage.

Four drivers exceeded 190 mph Friday as a total of 25 cars were out. Tom Sneva was fastest at 194.827 mph. Johnny Rutherford was second fastest at 191.383 mph. Gordon Johncock was right behind at 191.322 mph and Wally Dallenback registered 190.803.

Other times included Mike Mosley (188.561), Al Unser (187.017), Bobby Unser (184.117), Lloyd Ruby (183.936) and Roger McCluskey (183.564).

Nobody else topped 180 mph. Janet Guthrie got on the track briefly but mechanical troubles, which plagued her during Cal 500 practice last Sept., sent her back to the pits and then to the garage.

Sneva is driving one of the brand new Cosworth-powered McLarens as is Rutherford. The Parnelli Jones team of Al Unser and Danny Ongais also has the English Cosworths in their cars.

With the rules change on the "popoff" valve permitting 80 inches of boost (as compared to 75 last year) for qualifying Saturday, the drivers think the 200-mile-per-hour lap is back for the first time since 1972.

VICTORVILLE — Two of the best basketball teams in the CIF 2A division, and two of the best high school centers in Southern California, will clash tonight in a quarter-final playoff game at Victor Valley High.

Alta Loma, the valley's lone remaining entry in the basketball playoffs, will take its 25-4 record against the 26-1 mark of Victor Valley's Jackrabbits tonight at 8 o'clock.

The Braves' 6-foot-10 postman, Rich Davis, and the Jackrabbits' 6-4 scoring and rebounding machine, Tony Anderson, will renew their friendship on the court — but this time on opposing sides.

Davis and Anderson both played for Victor Valley coach Ollie Butler on an Olympic Development League team last summer. Davis played center on that team, and Anderson played guard along with Damien's Bill Duffy.

But Davis and Anderson will try to out-play each other for their teams' sakes tonight, though the number of college coaches and scouts who will be in attendance would be incentive enough. Both players are highly recruited.

"I know Oregon and Cal State Fullerton will be there," said Alta Loma coach Jeff McCall, "and so will Stan Morrison, the coach at the University of Pacific. Bob Boyd (USC coach) and Lee Hunt (UCLA assistant) were in Victorville Tuesday night to see Anderson and will probably be back."

Anderson has scored over 1,000 points and caught over 1,000 rebounds in his prep career. He has scored as many as 41 points in a game (Victor Valley's second-round victory over Indio) and has come up with as many as 31 rebounds.

Davis, though certainly a fine rebounder and scorer, is even more impressive as a defender. He has blocked about five shots per game and intimidated players all over the court as Alta Loma has held its opponents to 45 points per outing.

Though the matchup between those two stars will be interesting, the primary goal of tonight's game is a spot in the semi-finals against either Workman or Santa Clara.

Alta Loma will be trying to end Victor Valley's 23-game winning streak, longest in the CIF. The Jackrabbits' only loss this season was to Moreno Valley in the championship game of the seeded portion of the San Dimas Tournament of Champions.

"I don't think you can stop Tony Anderson but we'll try to slow him down," said McCall.

"We won't actually double-team him but we will make very sure that everyone on the court is very aware of where he is so that if he gets the ball, he'll be in a position where he can't easily hurt us.

"I guess you might say we'll have a man and a half on him," McCall continued.

"I don't think they've played anybody quite as big as we are. We should give them more problems than most teams have. Of course they'll try to press and run on us and we'll have to keep our own tempo and play our defense."

Butler's chief concern, of course, is Davis.

"We'll double-team him as much as possible," Butler said. "We'll play our basic zone, but another man will pick up Davis when he comes into a certain area. I really don't think there'll be any such thing as a matchup between the two players. Basketball is a team game.

"Davis is quite ominous on the court; he's an awesome sight. He's really a big psychological factor: when kids hear they're going to play against him they say, 'Wow, a 6-10 center.'"

The Braves may have the advantage of a more well-rounded team, at least as far as scoring goes. Forwards Kevin Comstock (6-5) and Jeff Davis (6-4) usually share the scoring load with Davis while Anderson is way out in front of his teammates in that category. Anderson averages 26 points per game and guard Bill Lightner is next at 10.

To reach Victor Valley High, take Interstate 15 north to Victorville. Exit at Mojave Drive and proceed east (right) to the school.

Superfly passes big exam

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — Alberto Sandoval has to be about the biggest thing that's happened to Pomona since oranges.

The city's citrus industry put Pomona on the map in the '20's and '30's and now Sandoval is rapidly putting his home town on the map among fistic experts.

"Superfly" racked up his 17th straight professional ring win Thursday night at the Olympic, disposing of veteran scrapper Halimi Gutierrez of Mexico City with a ninth-round knockout.

Gutierrez, a veteran of over 100 pro fights, was supposed to be Sandoval's toughest test yet, and the Pomona lad passed that exam with flying colors.

Gutierrez added to the pre-fight build-up by saying he would "punish" Sandoval, and that he would be Alberto's first "real" opponent.

Well, it was "Superfly" who dealt out the punishment Thursday, totally out-classing Gutierrez despite a slow start.

The win for Sandoval improves his pro ring record to an unblemished 17-0 with 12 knockouts. He is expected to sign in the next couple days to meet seven-ranked bantamweight Frankie Duarte at the Olympic in April.

"I've been bragging about how good Sandoval is and how great he is going to be," noted "Superfly's" manager, Jackie McCoy. "Tonight he proved to everyone what I've been saying is true.

"Halimi Gutierrez is one of the best fighters to ever come out of Mexico. He is no pushover. This win over him should put Alberto in the world ratings."

Sandoval, expressionless as always in the ring, overcame a slow start Thursday to put away his more experienced foe 40 seconds into the ninth round of the scheduled 10-round bantamweight scrap.

Neither boxer did much more than stare at one another while dancing about in the opening round. But from that point on it was all "Superfly".

Seemingly responding to the big crowd's calls for more action, and to his cheering section's yells of "Alll-bert-ooo, All-bert-ooo, Alll-bert-ooo!", Sandoval picked up the tempo midway through the second round and won every round thereafter on most ringside observers' scorecards.

"Superfly" really started to swarm all over Gutierrez in the sixth round, and in the seventh opened a small cut over Gutierrez' right eye with a barrage of stiff right hands.

The eighth was also all Sandoval, and Gutierrez was obviously in deep trouble.

The end for the Mexico City fighter came early in the ninth frame, as a wicked right hand put Gutierrez on the deck for the first time on the night.

The game vet staggered to his feet at the count of three, but the referee took one more look at the cut about his eye and halted the bout, Sandoval receipting for his 12th KO.

If "Superfly" can get past the scheduled Duarte fight in April, a world title clash for the 20-year old graduate of Garey High just might be a whole lot sooner than one might have dreamed.

In a companion 10-round bantamweight match Thursday, Mike Stuart of Los Angeles scored a close but unanimous decision over Ecuador's Carlos Alcivar. Stuart, now 9-4-2, came back from a second-round knockdown to rally for the win over Alcivar, who is now 7-6.

Johnson voted best in West

SEATTLE (AP) — UCLA forward Marques Johnson was named Thursday as the NCAA District 8 player of the year by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association.

Also on a 10-man team selected by the USBWA are James Edwards, Washington; Greg Ballard, Oregon; Bill Cartwright and Winford Boynes, San Francisco; Eddie Owens, Nevada-Las Vegas; Edgar Jones, Nevado-Reno; Freeman Williams, Portland State; Harold Rhodes, Washington State; and David Greenwood, UCLA.

Damien plays under lights

Damien High will host North Torrance in a CIF 4A soccer quarter-final match at 7 p.m. this evening.

Earlier today, Claremont was slated to visit topseeded Arcadia in a 3:15 p.m. match while Chaffey hosted Hawthorne in a 3A quarter-final game.

The championship games on both the 3A and 4A level will be played at Mt. San Antonio College next Friday.

Tickets for the Damien game are priced at $1.50 for adults, $1 for students with proper ID and children under 12.

OUT AT SECOND

Cal Poly Pomona's Bob Reyes is out trying to steal second base as San Luis Obispo shortstop Ozzie Smith applies the tag in the Mustangs' doubleheader sweep Thursday.

Tired Kings only fight

BUFFALO (AP) — The Los Angeles Kings might have been a bit tired playing their fifth National Hockey League game in six nights. But they were not too worn out for some fighting.

The Kings and Buffalo Sabres went into a rock-em, sock-em style of play early in Thursday night's game.

The result: four major penalties for fighting, six minor penalities and a game misconduct for Buffalo Captain Jim Schoenfeld.

Things then settled down and the Sabres went on to win 7-2 for their 11th victory in their last 13 games.

"They didn't play us very well tonight,' ' said Buffalo's Andre Savard. "I guess they were a little tired."

"We were ready for them tonight," echoed defenseman Bill Hajt.

The Kings beat Buffalo 5-1 Sunday.

"They humiliated us last time they were here and we went after them tonight," Gary McAdam, who scored Buffalo's first goal, said. "There was a certain amount of revenge going for us tonight."

Buffalo soared to a 5-1 lead in the first 40 minutes and limited the Kings to just two shots on goal in the first period and four in the second.

Following McAdam's goal, Craig Ramsay and Bill Hajt scored before the first period ended. Rene Robert netted his 28th goal of the season at 13:43 of the second before Marcel Dionne put Los Angeles on the scoreboard at 15:16. Buffalo's Gil Perreault then made it 5-1.

In the third period, Steve Clippendale scored his first goal of the season at 3:17 on a rebound, but Danny Gare and Broan Spencer wiped out any hope of a Los Angeles comeback with goals down the stretch.

'Wind run' gets Sneva fast time

Tom Sneva said he got an assist from the wind Thursday as he posted the quickest trip around the Ontario Motor Speedway in the first practice session for Sunday's Twin 200s auto race.

With the winds gusting at 12 miles an hour, Sneva was clocked at 194.827 miles an hour in his McLaren, the closest 26 drivers could come to the predicted 200 mile-an-hour qualifying figure for the opening race on the United States Auto Club's 1977 championship season.

"It was something else," said Sneva of the wind. "All I did was catch a big gust behind me going down the main straight and I picked up about six miles an hour.

"All I needed to do was catch a gust going the other way down the backstretch, but that wasn't about to happen."

A.J. Foyt, the favorite to win the pole position during Saturday's qualifications, was the last of the 26 drivers to make an appearance Thursday. He took his Coyote out shortly before the track closed, did a couple of shakedown laps, then parked it for the day after being clocked at 187.317 m.p.h.

Several cars had problems. Gordie Johncock, the 1976 USAC national champion, had a lap at 191.322 m.p.h. in his Wildcat, then spun a wheel bearing. Pancho Carter had the brakes lock up in his new Eagle and needed a tow-in. Billy Vukovich burned a piston in his Eagle, Dick Simon broke a piston in the No. 17 Vollstedt and Al Unser, after a lap at 186.367 m.p.h., lost the transmission in his No. 21 Parnelli.

Johnny Rutherford tried out both of his new McLarens and had a lap at 191.383 m.p.h. in the car he'll be driving Sunday.

The championship cars will practice for three hours today, then the stock cars will have their first workouts in the afternoon. Saturday, both divisions will qualify for Sunday's twin bill, with the championship portion being nationally televised.

Cuellar cut in collision

HOLTVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Mike Cuellar's bid to stick with the Angels was progressing nicely until the 39-year-old former Cy Young Award winner was spiked in a collision.

"That's a jolt," said Angels General Manager Harry Dalton. "Off what we had seen the first week, Cuellar was throwing so well he would make the club."

Manager Norm Sherry hopes to use the former Cy Young Award winner as his No. 5 starter or in the bullpen.

Cuellar, signed as a free agent this spring, needed four stitches in his left heel to close a wound suffered when he collided with Rusty Torres Thursday afternoon. Trainer Freddie Frederico estimated the lefthander would be out of action at least seven days.

Cuellar was released by Baltimore following the 1976 season. Although he had 20-game winning seasons three times in his career, his record fell to 4-13 last season with an earned-run average of 4.96.

Nolan Ryan threw batting practice for 30 minutes, but Sherry said the most impressive of the pitchers for this day was Don Kirkwood.

UCLA champs again

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — UCLA won its 11th straight Pacific-8 Conference basketball title Thursday night, and Marques Johnson didn't even have to put on his sneakers.

The Bruins' clinched the title when Oregon State, down 16 points very early in the game, pulled out a 78-73 overtime victory over Oregon on the Ducks' home court.

The Ducks finished the season at 9-5. UCLA is 10-3, so it doesn't matter how the Bruins fare against Southern Cal on Saturday. An Oregon win could have meant a Pac 8 tie had USC beat UCLA.

In other games, Washington beat Washington State 66-52 and Stanford downed California 85-66 in the Pac 8. In the WCAC, St. Mary's edged Portland 104-96 and Seattle defeated Nevada-Reno 93-84.

The Oregon-Oregon State showdown featured rough, sometimes sloppy, play. There were 68 fouls called, and eight players fouled out, four from each team.

In the overtime, State scored only two field goals, but hit 11 of 14 free throws.

Rocky Smith shot Oregon State back into the game after Oregon jumped to a 19-3 lead. Smith, a senior guard, finished with 32 points, including 10 of 12 from the line. A missed free throw late in the fourth quarter tarnished a superb performance by the Ducks' Greg Ballard, who hit 13 of 20 from the floor, 14 of 18 from the foul line, scored 40 points and grabbed 15 rebounds.

But, with the Ducks down 63-62 and seven seconds remaining, he missed the first of two free throws that could have given Oregon the lead. Still, he made the second, and seconds later, intercepted a pass to force the overtime.

"It was by far the best game we've played," said Oregon State's Ralph Miller, whose team beat the Ducks three straight times this season.

"We've played well all year, except tonight," sighed Oregon coach Dick Harter. "Our guards haven't played well the last three games. Tonight they really hurt us."

Only one of Oregon's guards, Mike Drummond, scored against the Beavers. He had eight points. OSU's guards, meanwhile, accounted for 40 points.

The loss jeopardized Oregon's chances for an at-large berth in the NCAA playoffs. The Ducks finished second in the Pac-8, thanks to Washington's victory over Washington State, but the NCAA is not committed to selecting a second-place Pac-8 team for one of the at-large berths.

Rams will keep four free agents

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Rams definitely expect to sign four of their free agents, but three others may sign with other National Football League teams, a Rams official has indicated.

Rams General Manager Don Klosterman said Thursday that Los Angeles definitely intended to have guard Tom Mack, running back Cullen Bryant, linebacker Jack Reynolds and wide receiver Harold Jackson back next season.

He said said the team would also offer contracts to the three other Ram free agents, kicker Tom Dempsey, safety Steve Preece and quarterback Ron Jaworski.

But Klosterman indicated that Preece and Dempsey may both go elsewhere, and reserve quarterback Jaworski has said he will not play in Los Angeles another year.

Devils, Scots tune up for clash

Pomona High and Upland, two San Antonio League track powers, walloped their respective opponents Thursday afternoon while tuning up for their SAL-opening clash next week.

Pomona, the defending league and CIF 3A champion, downed San Gorgonio, 86-41, while Upland rolled over neighbor Alta Loma, 104-23.

In other meets Thursday, Claremont clobbered Glendora, 83-34, Bonita beat Damien, 67-52, Chaffey topped Chino, 70-48, Ganesha fell to West Covina, 97-30, and Garey placed second in a tri-meet with Edgewood and Nogales.

Karsem James won the 100 in 10.0 seconds and the 220 in 22.9 and ran on the winning 440 relay team (44.0) to pace the Red Devils against their Citrus Belt League opponents.

Shot putter Ricky Fairman recorded the best mark of his career, 56 feet, 11 inches. Paul Sampson won the low hurdles in 39.8 and teammate Walter Owens took the highs in 15.2.

Anthony Miley won the 440 in 50.1 and helped the Red Devil mile relay team to victory in 3:30.8.

San Gorgonio's Dave Daniels won the 880 (2:00.6), mile (4:37.6) and two mile (9:47.0) and teammate Mike Dryden high jumped 6-6½.

Alta Loma's Joel Hope ran a fine 9:39.0 two mile but it wasn't enough as Upland won 12 of the 15 events contested. Mark Trilevsky ran a 4:39.0 mile for the Highlanders while teammate Wayne Cramer won the high (15.4) and low (41.0) hurdles and anchored the winning mile relay team (3:38.1). Upland's Mike Harden won the 880 in 2:02.2.

Upland will visit Pomona next Thursday on the first day of SAL dual meets.

Claremont's Derek Britton won the 100 (10.1), 220 (22.8) and shot put (52-7½) and led off the winning 440 relay team (44.9) to propel Claremont to victory.

Sophomore Locke Breaux won the mile (4:39.0) and two mile (9:59) while teammate Doug Maxwell won the highs (15.7) and lows (41.9).

Chaffey out-pointed Chino despite the Cowboys' Steve Gomez' scoring wins in the 100 and 220 and anchoring the winning mile relay team. Chaffey's Bob Sebro won the shot at 51-8¾ and teammate Dean Steffler took the low hurdles in 40.6.

Junior Pete Dewhurst won the mile and two mile to pace Bonita's win over Damien. Sanford Coggins of the Bearcats won the 220 (23.4) in his first real track competition and took second in the 100 behind Damien's John Davis (10.0). Damien's Larry Dutcher recorded a 54-1¾ in the shot and Bonita's Jesse Silva long jumped 20-5.

Ganesha's Floyd Eddings won the 100 (10.1) and the triple jump (44-2) just two days after his basketball season ended and teammate David Carr won the quarter-mile.

Garey's Kenneth Ottrix won the high jump at 6-2 and teammate Robert Nowden won the high hurdles (15.4) and ran on the winning 440 relay foursome.

Broncos lose twice despite playing well

By PAUL CLICK
PB Correspondent

"We played our best ball of the year today," noted Cal Poly Pomona's skipper John Scolinos.

However, the Broncos lost both ends of a twin-bill to Cal Poly San Luis Obispo Thursday afternoon on the Broncos' diamond. SLO hung on to take the nightcap 4-2 after taking the opener, 3-0.

Scolinos, despite the twin loss to the Mustangs which dropped his squad's seasonal record to 2-10, was pleased with the Broncos' performance.

The Poly skipper commented, "I thought we hit the ball well today. Even though we didn't score that many runs we hit the ball hard. Their guys played a great defensive game against us. They came up with everything!

"Chuck Belk, Rick Schween and Bob Luitwieler did a real good job for us today on the mound. This was the best pitching we've had all year."

SLO banged out five doubles in the opener to build a 3-0 advantage through the first four innings of action. Dan Gans, a former Mt. San Antonio player, drove in Ossie Smith with a double over the rightfielder's head to give SLO a 1-0 lead in the opening frame.

Dave Pencille with the aid of the Mustang's spectacular fielding gems was able to blank the Broncos on five hits. Pencille dazzled a majority of the Pomona hitters with an assortment of pitches as he fanned four while walking two Bronco batters.

Pomona hit the ball well off of Pencille but not well enough.

Record Reviews

By DAVE MARSH

THE RAMONES: "Leave Home" (Sire SA 7528).

Many DJs are shying away from this record, making the mistake of confusing pure, basic, hard rock with incompetence. At its best, "Leave Home" is reminiscent of the early Who; even at worst, the comparison with the early British sound (circa 1965) might be based more on music than spirit, which is a delightful change from the Eric Carmen axis. Some of the lyric themes are a bit questionable — "Commando," "Carbona Not Glue" for instance — but "Leave Home" is pure rock and roll. Since you probably won't sample it on the radio, you'll have to trust me: This is the genuine item.

* * *

"Phil Spector's Greatest Hits" (Warner-Spector 2SP 9104).

Some of the greatest moments in the history of rock and roll, from The Teddy Bears in 1958 to the inspired genius of The Checkmates' wonderful "Black Pearl" in 1969. In between, the greatest hits of the Righteous Brothers, Crystals and Ronettes among others. Spector made the word "producer" important in popular music, and no matter that a good deal of his self-promotion was baloney — "River Deep — Mountain High," his Ike & Tina Turner effort, flopped because it is a mediocre record — but the man made some of the great music of the '60s. Anyone who doesn't love "Da Doo Ron Ron," "You've Lost that Lovin' Feelin'," "Spanish Harlem," or "Be My Baby" is missing a lot in life.

* * *

"Lone Star" (Columbia PC 34475).

If you can't beat 'em, join 'em: Note-perfect copies of Led Zeppelin's best moments, plus a weighty version of the Beatles' "She Said She Said." Both are definitive in the original.

* * *

CHILLIWACK: "Dreams, Dreams, Dreams" (Mushroom MRS-5006).

This Canadian quarter has kicked around from record label to record label for years. But Mushroom may be charmed with references to dreams — they hit with Heart's "Dreamboat Annie" last year — because this is by far the best record Chilliwack has ever made. The guitar lines are hot, the melodies are good ones, and Bill Henderson's vocals are excellent. Despite the dedication to Scientology guru L. Ron Hubbard, this is first-rate rock.

* * *

STEVE GIBBONS BAND: "Rollin' On" (MCA-2243).

English mainstream rock sponsored by the organization which brought you Thunderclap Newman — the Who. Gibbons is a good singer, but his writing often leaves something to be desired, particularly when he isn't rocking out. The music is better off when it's hard and direct, too. The best moments come on Side One, particularly the concluding version of Chuck Berry's overlooked "Tulane."

National Academy of Popular Music

Opens shrine to Tin Pan Alley

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight stories above the neon maze that showbiz fondly calls the crossroads of the world, the nation's music is now enshrined.

Here, the ghost fingers of Scott Joplin dance across a keyboard in "Maple Leaf Rag."

George Gershwin's trick desk is opened wide.

The tune that later became "The Star Spangled Banner" turns up as a lilt for George Washington's election campaign.

With the mouthful title of Songwriters' Hall of Fame Museum, Archives and Library, the center has been established after a decade of planning by the National Academy of Popular Music and is filled with amazing memorabilia. The salute ranges from "Flat Foot Floogie" to "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The academy was started by writers and publishers who felt that the time had come for Tin Pan Alley to get some permanent recognition along with baseball players, actors, football behemoths, film stars and Frisbee champions.

At first, the NAPM concentrated on annual votes for past and present greats — a list without a monument. After the death in 1976 of Johnny Mercer, the first president, an architect was hired. He designed a building that would cost $5 million.

Alexander Parker, a financier and song buff, heard about it, called Sammy Cahn, Mercer's successor. Parker had just bought One Times Square, the famous triangular building down which the lighted ball rolls each New Year's Eve for TV's millions.

"He offered us an entire floor rent free," said Oscar Brand, the folk singer and musicologist who is the museum's curator. "Parker felt it was the ideal place, sort of midway between old and new Tin Pan Alley."

The exact original location of that mythical boulevard has been lost. Baltimore claimed one in 1814, but by the mid-19th century, a lot of music publishers laid claim to the title down near Manhattan's Chinatown. Brand and his colleagues feel the first full-fledged Alley burgeoned around 1900 at 28th Street and Sixth Avenue — now the flower market district — and moved a mile uptown soon after, centering at the Brill Building, a warren of tiny rooms crowded with eager writers and skeptical publishers.

"Sixty per cent of all America's popular music was written in this one area," Cahn says.

When the call went out for suitable exhibit material, Brand was amazed by "the incredible things that turned up in attics." Many items were donated, others loaned, such as the desk, sent by the Library of Congress, at which Victor Herbert stood while composing "The Red Mill" and "Babes in Toyland."

Fats Waller's son sent the piano on which "Honeysuckle Rose" first sounded. A reproducing piano plays the paper rolls recorded by Gershwin, Eubie Blake, Joplin and the Richard Rodgers of 1924.

Another upright that was used for years in one office is scarred with uncounted cigarette burns — "It was traditional never to use ash trays," explains Rand. The instrument was called a Tonk after its distributor, Max Tonk; and that's how honky-tonk piano may have originated.

Other souvenirs are the tray at which Otto Harbach wrote "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," and paintings by Mercer, Harold Rome ("Pins and Needles"), John Loeb ("Rosie the Riverter") and Howard Dietz ("Dancing in the Dark").

Rudy Vallee's first megaphone, Gene Kelly's dancing shoes from "An American in Paris," Richard Rodgers' academic hood are on show as well, along with the guitars used by Julie Andrews and Mary Martin in the stage and film versions of "The Sound of Music" and the red shoes from "The Wizard of Oz."

For students and researchers, a restricted area provides a large collection of sheet music, motion pictures, videotapes and a library. A recording studio has been set up where songwriters may come and reminisce.

The museum is open to the public without charge, though to prevent overcrowding and for security, visitors must write in advance or telephone from the lobby.

Brand enthuses about the cooperation from so many in getting the project started — "songwriters are a real fraternity, and there's never a trace of jealousy on something like this."

Even the two big rival organizations which look out for royalties, Broadcast Music, Inc., and the American Society of authors, composers and publishers, pitched in to enhance the shrine.

HIGH FLYERS

ABBA, popular Swedish rock group, uses a helicopter to keep its engagements throughout Europe. The name of the group is made up of the first letters of their first names. From left are Benny Andersson, Annifrid Lyngstad, Agnetha Faltskog and Bjorn Ulvaeus.

MSAC to offer recital

Minoru Nojima, hailed as "Japan's greatest pianist," will present a recital in the Social Science Center at Mt. San Antonio College at 7:30 p.m. March 13.

Since his prize-winning performance at the 1969 Van Cliburn Competition in Fort Worth, Nojima has performed widely throughout the United States.

In his MSAC concert he will perform the works of Beethoven's Sonata in A Major, Ravel's "Gaspard de la Nuit" and Liszt's Sonata in B Minor.

Nojima began studying piano at the age of three. At 15 he entered the famous Toho Music School and three years later won the First Grand Prize in Japan's nationwide Music Concours.

Following the competition, he was hailed as one of the greatest keyboard talents of Japan. His recordings are bestsellers in Japan.

This month he will make another appearance at Carnegie Hall with the American Symphony. He also appeared this season as featured soloist with the Tokyo symphony on its tour of the western United States.

Alex Haley organizes film firm

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Alex Haley, author of "Roots," has formed a production company to make movie and television programs. The name, naturally enough, is Kinte Corp., stemming from the name of his slave ancestor.

The first production by Kinte Corp. will be a double phonograph album of Haley recounting how he did his research for "Roots."

UCLA to present Irish songsters

The Irish Rovers will present a concert of bawdy songs, love songs, drinking songs and funny songs in UCLA's Royce Hall at 8:30 p.m. March 14.

Led by Will Millar, Rover members George and Joe Millar, Jimmy Ferguson and Wilcil McDowell have concertized together accompanied by accordion, fiddle, guitar, banjo — even a tin whistle, for more than 12 years, adding Bob O'Donovan to their group in 1976. Their concert repertoire reportedly also includes "fun . . . gusty, lusty song, cornball humor . . . puns, singalongs and all." (Detroit Free Press).

Averaging 100 concert dates each year, the Rovers have played throughout the United States and Canada, as well as in the British Isles, Australia, New Zealand and Japan.

Canadian and American television audiences have been able to enjoy the Rovers. They have appeared with such performers as John Davidson, the Smothers Brothers, Mike Douglas and Merv Griffin, built an audience of 2.5 million viewers for their six-season Canadian television series, won an ACTRA Award for the best variety performance in 1975 for the series, and have taped four "super specials" at CBS's Vancouver Studios for airing this season.

Tickets are on sale at $6.50, $5.50 and a special $2.50 for students at UCLA central ticket office, 650 Westwood Plaza, and all Mutual and Wallich-Liberty agencies. Master Charge or BankAmericard purchases may be arranged by calling (213) 478-7578.

STONE AGE SWEETIE

Actress Dana Gillespie is cast in the starring role of Ajor, the beautiful Stone Age girl, in the movie, "The People That Time Forgot," now being filmed at Pinewood, England. It also stars Patrick Wayne and Doug McClure.

Orchestra sets three concerts

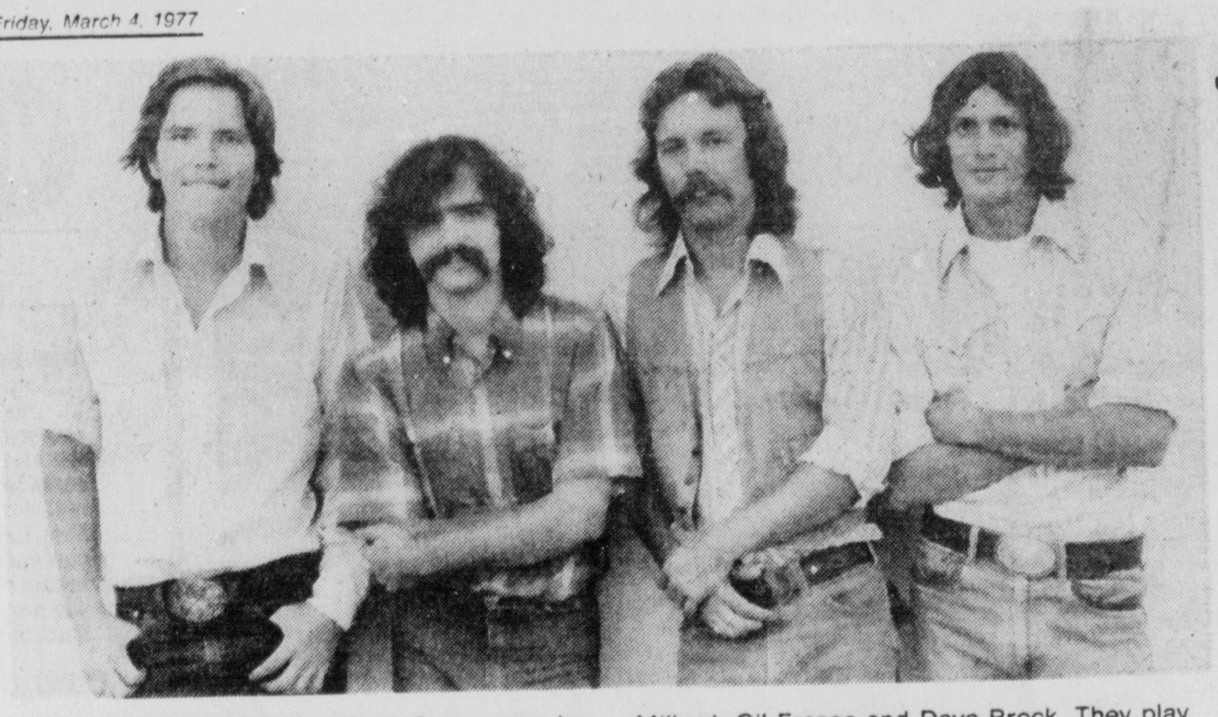
Violinist Pinchas Zukerman will conduct and be soloist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic in concerts in the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center at 8:30 p.m. Thursday and next Friday and at 2:30 p.m. March 13.

Three Brandenburg Concertos and Stravinsky's Jazz-inspired musical theater piece, "The Soldier's Tale," are programmed. The Stravinsky "narration with music," receiving its first subscription concerts performances, features the award-winning actor/director John Houseman as the Narrator, TV star Werner Klemperer as the Devil, actor-musician Joyn Rubinstein as the Soldier, and actress Pavla Ustinov as the Princess.

The presentation, using a new English translation and adaptation by Jack Larson, will be directed by James Bridges and designed by Sally Jacobs. The chamber ensemble of seven instrumentalists, under the direction of the Philharmonic's William Kraft, will be headed by Zukerman.

On the first half of the program, Zukerman will be playing the violin and leading the Philharmonic in Bach's Brandenburg Concertos Nos. 1, 3 and 4 on Thursday and Friday, and Nos. 2, 5 and 6 on March 13.

The brilliant young Israeli violinist Itzhak Perlman appears at the Philharmonic's Celebrity Recital Monday at 8:30 p.m. in the Music Center Pavilion. His program lists Bach's Sonata No. 3 in E for Violin and Keyboard; Prokofieff's Sonata No. 1 in F Minor; Schumann's "Fantasia"; Tchaikovsky's "Serenade Melancolique" and Wieniawski's "Polonaise Brilliante in A." Samuel Sanders will be the accompanist.



BACK AND BOILING — Crab Grass, popular Claremont bluegrass group, has returned to the Boiler Room of Griswold's Old School House in Claremont. From left are David Firman, Dave Millard, Gil Frazee and Dave Brock. They play from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Wednesday through Saturday.

Japanese group in jazz concert

The Waseda University High Society Orchestra of Tokyo, Japan, will present a jazz concert in Bridges Hall, Pomona College, at 8:15 p.m. Saturday. Admission is free.

Thirty student players will participate in the group's goodwill tour of the West Coast. Sponsored by the External Affairs Commission of the Associated Students of Pomona College, the concert is open to the public. A reception will be held in Weirick Lounge, LeBus Court, after the concert.

Founded over 20 years ago, the Waseda University High Society Orchestra has won several top music competitions in Japan and numbers some of Japan's leading professional jazz players among its former members.

GARTH "WOODY" ELLWOOD

When you mix a little Donnie Brooks with a vocal group like "The Drifters," the result is an evening of pure entertainment.

That's what Tiffiny's manager Javid Mansouri served up to customers of his Foothill Blvd. restaurant last Monday night for his first Oldies But Goodies show. And what a show it was . . . Brooks at his dynamic best, and "The Drifters," warming after a slow start, drawing cheers from the crowd for "Under the Boardwalk," "Up on the Roof," and others of their celebrated hits.

Brooks is dynamite! I've seen him several times (first time at Tiffiny's about four years ago) and each time he captures and holds my attention. Donnie doesn't merely burst upon an audience, he puts a strangehold on it! He almost dares you to think about or do anything else while he performs. (He's there tonight, by the way. Little different show but entertaining, nonetheless. Catch him if you can.)

The audience last Monday night wasn't large, but it will grow as Tiffiny's Oldies But Goodies Night catches on. Next Monday night, Brooks will welcome another good oldies group, "The Crests."

AROUND 'N ABOUT

. . . You've asked for him, and Joe Lucier has brought him back to Pomona. Eddie Steele and his "Free Country" opened last week at Joe's Rendezvous, 732 W. Holt, Pomona, and will be there for some time on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. Sundays, by the way, will be devoted to jam sessions at that western club.

. . . Good news for Yugene Smith fans. Gene, the nifty singer-pianist at the Arbor Restaurant the past two months, will continue there several more weeks. So stop by the Arbor this weekend and listen to a little jazz-blues-pop piano ala Yugene Smith. Corner Foothill and Euclid in Upland.

. . . "Crabgrass," a local four-piece bluegrass group, opened Wednesday night at the Boiler Room in Claremont. The group is comprised of Dave Brock, Dave Millard, Dave Firman and Gil Frazee. They play Wednesdays through Saturdays at the little nitespot in Griswold's Old School House.

. . . Trying to get business rolling at their new Diamond Bar restaurant, Joe and Guido Caporuscio are offering a dollar off any dinner on the menu Mondays and Tuesdays at their Equestrian restaurant at 23401 Golden Srpings Drive. Coupon ad will run in next Monday's Prog.

. . . Borelli & Hart are back together again as a duo ... another spot of good news. After several months of going their separate ways (Borelli with John Kriston at Upland's Captain's Corner, and Hart doing a single at Ontario's Canopy Lounge,) Daryl and Rick will return next Tuesday to Younger Bros., the Chino club they opened a year ago.

. . . The Nite Lite, 8874 Foothill, Cucamonga, has returned to its original entertainment format ... disco dancing Wednesday through Saturday. Owner Richard Chado tells me he's formulating plans for opening a restaurant there also ... a fast service steak house.

. . . You may have noticed the "Camille's" grow-

Keeping warm and cozy

Old remedies useful in fuel crunch

Progress Bulletin
home & garden

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

You can keep warm and cozy without using a lot of expensive fuel. Just borrow some ideas used by your grandparents.

"When I was a girl our bedrooms were as cold as any bedrooms could be," says 79-year-old Florence Scribner of Cannondale, Conn. "We had no heat in them and no insulation but we were always cozy and snug and we were healthy.

"Before going to bed we would heat a brick or a round stone about the size of a grapefruit in the oven, wrap it in a piece of carpet and tuck it into our beds. First, we would test it by moistening a finger the way you might test to see if an iron is at the right temperature. We would look for nice round stones, the size of a grapefruit," she continues.

"On extremely cold nights we might add an aluminum hot water bottle. The aluminum held the heat better than some kinds you find today."

Sometimes youngsters would tuck heated stones in their pockets when they went off to school and when they went ice skating. If they felt cold they would rub the hot stones between their hands or stick their hands in their pockets to keep warm.

"In winter you went into your cold weather bed clothes. We didn't worry about looking fancy," Mrs. Scribner recalls. "We crocheted or knitted ankle length foot socks that were nice and warm. We wore some kind of little night cap to keep our heads warm and we wore flannel night gowns. We made warm bedcovers out of cotton scraps and lengths of fabric lined with cotton batting. The quilts were wonderfully warm, and colorful. Our bedsheets were longer in those days. They could be pulled up from the bottom to cover your body.

"The only time we put heat in a bedroom was when my great-aunt came to visit," she adds. "She would bring along her bed warmer, a metal pan with a long wood handle. Coals went into the metal pan."

A hearty, vigorous woman, and a widow, Mrs. Scribner is a petite five feet, but maintains the house in which she grew up and takes care of the kinds of chores that keep it ticking along.

"You had to learn to stay healthy when I was a girl. There were no telephones and you would have to walk miles to get a doctor if one was needed. We had terrible snows in the winter and the temperature always seemed to be around zero or below. My father made snowshoes out of wooden cheese boxes.

"And weather was no excuse for losing a day on the job. In forty years my father was late only once for his job at the wire mill and that was during the blizzard of '88, and they docked him for it, he told us. They just figured workers should be prepared for every emergency," Mrs. Scribner says.

"He had taken a shortcut through the woods and down the cliff and his tin lunch pail had become such a burden in the storm that he had to hang it on a tree. He couldn't remove it for months, the snows were so high.

"He had hated to be late for work even those few minutes to break his record — he had heard the factory whistle as he approached the plant. Usually he wouldn't even eat breakfast if he thought it would make him late."

Afer that experience the family rented a house every winter ($8 a month) on Route 7 so that her father could walk to work on the railroad tracks that ran behind the house.

Nowadays Mrs. Scribner has a bit more heat, a side register in the wall, but she turns the heat on about a half hour before she plans to go to bed and then turns it off upon retiring.

People shouldn't expect a furnace to do everything for them. They should get into the habit of wearing warm clothes indoors in winter. A sweater is important, she advises. If it isn't too warm indoors, you will not feel so cold when you are outdoors. It will at least be easier to psyche yourself into believing it isn't so cold.

Gardeners check list

—Vegetable Garden Planning Tips:

1. Select a flat, sunny area with a well-drained soil for your garden.
2. Prepare your soil carefully.
3. Plant vegetables that your family likes.
4. Plant your garden so that you have a long harvest season.
5. Plant disease resistant varieties that are adapted to your area.

—Water Saving Tips for The Garden:

1. Water infrequently but deeply and thoroughly. This will encourage deep rooting and a greater tolerance to dry spells.
2. Mulch the soil surface to cut down on water loss due to evaporation. A two inch mulch of commercially packaged organic matter or garden compost is recommended. Apply mulches to shrubs, trees, annuals, vegetable gardens and even containers.
3. Move container plants to sheltered areas to keep them from drying quickly in cold windy areas.
4. Drought tolerant plants need less water to survive. Find out which plants can get along with less water. Local nurserymen can help with this task.
5. Install a drip irrigation system. The slow watering system can save up to 60 per cent of all water used in garden care. Drip irrigation utilizes plastic piping and small "spaghetti" tubing that leads to distributors at the base of each plant.
6. Water early in the day especially as the weather warms to reduce evaporation losses.
7. Spike or aerate lawns to insure maximum water penetration.
8. Don't be a gutter flooder. Turn off lawn sprinklers before water is wasted as run-off into gutters and streets.

—Place saucers under outdoor container plants to catch drainage water and allow plants to go longer between watering.

—Survey the garden for insect pests very carefully this season. A dry year will place plants under stress, making them more susceptible to insect attack!

—Shade annuals such as Cineraria, Pansies, and Lobelia can be set in place any time now.

—Spike or aerate lawns to insure adequate water penetration to the roots and put a check on run-off.

—Blooming ground covers that can tolerate conditions on the dry side include Lantana, Creeping Rosemary, low growing species of Ceanothus and Manzanita and Gazania to name a few.

—Be certain to deep water shrubs and trees this season. Dig basins around the plants and fill them with water. Soil moisture will be very low due to the lack of rainfall for the past two winters.

—Water penetrants in liquid form can be applied to clay soils to increase water penetration. Gypsum will also increase water penetration in soils "sealed" with high sodium content.

Long-blooming flowers popular

Long blooming flowers are becoming increasingly popular here in California because the climate permits outdoor gardening for such a long period of the year. Gardeners looking for colorful flowers to provide many months of garden interest should investigate the Dahlia.

Dahlia tubers can be planted in a few weeks in locales past the danger of frost and in May in areas where winter cold persists. Prepare the Dahlia bed by working organic matter, fertilizer and phosphate material into the bottom of the planting hole. Over this reservoir of "food" lay a cushion of chemical free soil. Place a stake in the tall growing varieties and the Dahlia root or tuber next to it, covering it with several inches of soil. If you wish you can plant two, three or four Dahlia tubers in the hole.

Fertilize the plants if necessary when they're well established. Water thoroughly at the time of planting and not again until the plants are up — in three to five weeks. After leaves are in full production and buds are set, Dahlias require deep water.

To keep down weeds and retain moisture, mulch around the Dahlia plants rather than cultivating. Pinch out the center stalk above the top leaves when the plant has three sets of leaves — this will prevent a top-heavy plant.

Here's the answer

Mid-winter best time for pest control, spraying

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q. — We have a lamp in our bedroom which flickers every once in a while. We know there is nothing wrong with the outlet because when another lamp is plugged into it, the lamp works perfectly. What could be causing this and how can it be fixed? Frankly, I do not know too much about lamps or electricity.

A. — Although you do not say so, it is assumed that you have turned the bulb to be sure that it is seated firmly. Sometimes a bulb not screwed in all the way will flicker occasionally. If you have not done this and now do so, be sure you unplug the cord from the outlet first. When you turn the bulb clockwise to tighten it, do it carefully and without pressure, otherwise the bulb will break in your hand. Replace the plug in the outlet and turn on the light. If the flicker is still present, remove the plug a second time and check every inch of the wire, including the parts that go into the plug and those that go into the lamp. Should there be something wrong, you will have to fix the trouble or replace the entire cord. It would take far too long to detail the steps that must be taken to handle this problem, especially since different lamps must be handled differently, but the entire procedure can be learned fairly quickly if you can get someone to show you how it is done. Actually, knowing how a lamp is put together and how it works is one of the best ways to introduce yourself to the mysteries of a simple electrical unit.

Q. — Can you tell me how to insulate an attic floor between the joists? I intend to use the insulation that comes in batts.

A. — Yes, but it would have helped if hou had said whether some insulation is already there. If so, add a layer of batts on top of the hold Be sure the new insulation does not have a vapor barrier. If the kind you bought already has such a barrier, remove it or slash it freely with a knife, then install it with the slashed surface down. If there is no insulation between the joists, just lay the batts in place.

(Where and how to insulate your home yourself, either from scratch or as an addition to insulation already there, is explained in Andy Lang's booklet, "Saving Money by Insulating," available by sending 35 cents and a long, STAMPED, self-addressed envelope to Know-How, P.O.Box 477, Huntington, N.Y. 11743. Questions cannot be answered individually.)

Mid-winter is one of the best times to control certain types of insects that hibernate through the winter on or around fruit trees and Roses. Mites and scale insects, some species of aphid and peach leaf curl can be controlled with dormant spraying.

Combinations of sprays such as an insecticide and fungicide together, may be used to do a thorough job of eradicating dormant pests; the insecticide will kill scale insects, red spider, mealy bugs and mites and destroy the eggs of the redspider, aphid and leaf roller. Fungicides will control peach leaf curl and other fungus diseases of fruit and berry plants.

In using any type of spray, be certain you follow the manufacturer's instructions for the best results — and your safety.

Where and when to spray are important considerations for the home gardener. Roses should be sprayed at their most dormant period during the winter. Stone fruit (peaches, apricots, etc.) should be sprayed in late fall and once again in late winter just before the buds are about to burst. Other types of plants and trees requiring a dormant spraying can be sprayed anytime between late fall and spring. Morning is generally the best time to spray.

When spraying be thorough. Hibernating insects and over-wintering fungi hold up for the winter on soil surfaces under plants, in garden debris, on twigs, and in the cracks of tree bark.

When spraying follow this or a similar pest control program:

—Spray thoroughly and according to the type of insect, disease or both that you are after. For example, a light spray for aphids or the red spider . . . a heavy drenching for beetles, borers and scale.

—Follow instructions on the spray container carefully. (For instructions on the labels of spray materials are for the protection of the plant . . . yourself . . . and that of friendly wildlife.

—Spray at the right time . . . when the plant is in the early bud stage, to avoid disfiguration.

—When possible (and necessary) ask for the spray that has ingredients so combined as to accomplish two or more jobs at once.

—Eliminate the hangouts of disease and pests — piles of leaves, weeds, trash. Store lumber flat. . .place pots in racks . . . so bugs do not have ready-made places to get under and hide out.

Following such a program should make your spraying efforts more effective — with healthy blossoms and fruits as a satisfying reward in months to come.

'Community gardens' springing up in cities

Community gardens springing up in city vacant lots and suburban locations are not just for apartment dwellers. The vegetables and flowers grown in many of them are cared for and harvested by home owners, mobile home and apartment dwellers alike.

There are several reasons for the move to community garden plots. Often, community gardens are sponsored by groups that provide the how-to of vegetable gardening. What to plant, how much to plant, and when to plant — watering techniques, insect control and fertilizing all fall into place. If formal instructions are not provided, much can be learned from second and third season "veterans." Gardening tools such as hoses and shovels can be cooperatively owned and stored at the garden site. Rototilling or plowing of the garden is often done before individual plots are mapped out. That in itself is a real back-saver.

Home owners with yards often join the ranks of community gardeners to expand their vegetable or flower production or to escape the futile effort of raising tomatoes and corn in heavily shaded gardens. Crops that take lots of room like Halloween pumpkins and watermelons are also candidates for community plots if you plant them out of view from the road — fresh watermelons are still a mouth-watering temptation.

If your area does not sponsor a community garden, you might try contacting the city parks department, church organizations and business clubs. Or, contact the owner of a suitable lot to make his property available for community gardening. Growing your own vegetables is a rewarding pursuit for families, individuals and communities.

Fighting erosion

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Highway Administration is preventing soil erosion along interstate routes with a new strand of fiber glass.

Shot from an air-powered gun, the sprayed fiber glass, called Landglas, provides a low-cost method of protecting seeded areas along highways and in construction sites. Developed by Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp., it has been applied along roads in 27 states to date.

The sprayed fiber glass strands form a porous mat, protecting the grass seed underneath from salt.

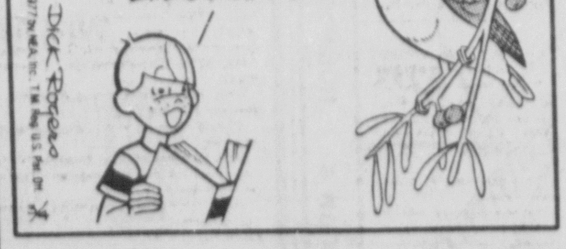
Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "WHY DOES A BIRD HAVE A GIZZARD?"

BILL LADD
INDEPENDENCE, MO

A. A GIZZARD IS THE MUSCULAR PART OF A BIRD'S STOMACH IN WHICH FOOD IT EATS IS GROUND UP.



If you own a canary or have chickens, you may already know that birds have a very strange way of chewing their food.

Birds must swallow their food whole because they have no teeth.

The work of "chewing" is done by the gizzard, a muscular part of a bird's stomach that breaks up the food so that it can be digested.

After the bird swallows its food, the food first passes to a place in the bird's throat called the crop, where the food is stored and moistened.

Below the crop is the stomach. Here the food is mixed with digestive juices.

The food then passes into the gizzard where it is crushed by the strong grinding movements of the muscular walls.

Birds that eat seeds and other hard food swallow grit and gravel along with the food to aid the grinding process.

Gizzards of grain-eating birds are better developed than those of insect-eating birds.

FUNNY BUSINESS

IRS computer arouses fear of intrusion

WASHINGTON (AP) — A massive computer system proposed by the Internal Revenue Service could offer "irresistible" opportunities for illegal government intrusions on Americans' privacy, a congressional study says.

The computer system, which the report says could cost $1 billion, would make Americans' income tax returns immediately available on thousands of terminals in IRS offices.

The draft report by Congress' Office of Technology Assessment suggests that hearings need to be held to answer questions about the security and privacy implications of the proposed computer, known as the Tax Administration System — TAS.

The unpublished draft report has been circulated to House Ways and Means subcommittee members.

Currently, only about 10 per cent of each year's 132 million tax returns are instantly available on IRS computers in a limited number of IRS offices. The rest are held on magnetic tape that take days to obtain.

"TAS will make large quantities of personal information about people available in the time it takes to snap two fingers," the report said.

"It may offer resources for surveillance, through identification and location of people, that could prove irresistible, or at least highly tempting to future congresses, presidents and federal agencies," it added.

"Although laws may make it illegal to disseminate IRS information for illegal or unconsitutional surveillance purposes, these laws may not be enough."

The IRS will ask for funds to etart on the system for the next fiscal year according to Patrick Ruttle, assistant IRS commissioner for tax administration

Ruttle said in an interview that TAS will mean better, faster service for taxpayers and "a more efficient tax system." He added that the new system would be more secure than the current one.

"This is actually going to reduce (the danger of disclosure)," he said. "This is a second generation system. It will further tighten up controls on our own employes and institute new system checks."

Under TAS, 10 regional computer centers would contain all the tax returns for the past three to five years for all the taxpayers in each region. All the returns for that region would be available instantly at IRS offices throughout each region on terminals with screens similar to television screens.

Returns from outside a region would be available through an IRS national computer center within several days.

More than 48,000 IRS employes would have access to the computer through more than 9,000 terminals scattered across the country.

TAS would also link all tax forms relating to one individual — the form 1040 or 1094A, W-2 forms from employers, interest earnings reports from banks and the like.

The present computer system does not have that capacity. Furthermore, only one year's return for anyone now is retained for immediate computer recall.

The draft report, based on the findings of a panel of experts convened by the Office of Technology Assessment, said sufficient information has not been provided about the system by the IRS to enable Congress to make a decision on the project.

The proposed IRS system might also provide the CIA and other intelligence agencies with ways to watch Americans overseas, through interconnections with other countries' computers, the report said.

"This capacity may also suggest implications for the capacity to monitor the activities of Americans abroad for economic purposes to serve the interests of foreign relations, military affairs, law enforcement, intelligence or the research purposes of IRS, Treasury or other agenices," it said.

The proposed system would also contain so much information that it might be profitable for outsiders to try to illegally get into the system, the study said.

"It may offer rewards for unauthorized users inside or outside the IRS which outweigh the risks of violation of legal prohibitions or the public opprobrium of discovery," the draft said.

Such unauthorized access to information is one of the types of "computer crimes" that are a growing concern for both government and private computer users.

The draft report also suggests that the very speed of the system — which Ruttle says benefits the taxpayers — could penalize the individual.

"Processes which previously took five to six weeks can be reduced to a day, and for some duties, days are reduced to microseconds," it said.

"A point for consideration might be if the IRS personnel can work in 12 seconds, will taxpayers be expected to work on a similar scale?" it said. "Errors made automatically and instaneously will have to be corrected manually and resolved in communications between taxpayers and IRS employes."

The draft also suggested that the proposed system could provide even greater possibilities for abuse if it were connected with the proposed electronic funds transfer systems — computers that would allow stores to deduct purchases directly from one's bank accounts.

William Smith, general counsel of the American Bankers Association and former assistant IRS commissioner, was a member of the panel of experts convened by the Office of Techonology Assessment to consider TAS. He says his views are different from others on the panel.

"I think the system is crucial to the tax administation system of the United States," he said in an interview.
